Southern Tornado Toll Reaches 13

HUNDREDS ARE HOMELESS IN VICIOUS STORM

Shreveport Suffers Loss of Million Dollars; Texas Also Hard Hit.

MAN CRUSHED BY TREE

National Guardsmen Called Out to Prevent Looting of Wrecked Homes.

(By Associated Press)

SHREVEPORT, La.—Thirteen persons were killed, at least 37 injured and hundreds made homeless by tornadic winds which struck hardest in Shreveport late yesterday and then moved across the border into Texas.

Fire Chief Sloan J. Flores estimated that damage in Shreveport alone was more than $1,000,000. Libby-Owens-Ford glass plant officials counted their loss at $200,000. The state fair grounds damage was estimated at $100,000.

The stormy, accompanied by hail and rain, caused most damage in a Shreveport residential section before striking across the border in the area between Elysian Fields and Bethany, Tex. Five hundred Shreveport homes were damaged.

Among the dead was T. K. Giddens, 71, Shreveport capitalist and property owner, who was visiting a Negro tenant house when the storm broke.

A tree crushed him as he sought to enter his automobile.

Nine other persons killed in Shreveport were: John M. Bauguss, about 35; Mrs. John M. Bauguss; Mrs. Hettie Armstrong, 45; E. G. Woodyard, 62; the wife, two stepchildren and grandchild of Pat McKinney, 38, Negro; and an unidentified Negro.

Mrs. Banks Roberts, 65, was killed at Elysian Fields when her house collapsed. Her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Hightower, and Mrs. Hightower's 18-month-old daughter, were injured. Two Negroes were reported killed between Elysian Fields and Bethany.

National guardsmen were called out immediately to prevent looting of homes. They were joined by CCC camp enrollees and volunteers in the search for victims. The Red Cross stepped in to aid the needy.

Texas Convicts Cut Off Legs In Mutilation Wave

HUNTSVILLE, Tex.—(AP)—O. J. S. Ellington, general manager of the Texas prison system, disclosed today two convicts had cut off their legs in the latest outbreak of self-mutilation at Eastham prison farm. He said both were drug addicts.

Eight other prisoners have broken arms, three have broken legs and one sliced the flesh off his heels. Ellington said a practice of serving coffee to men in the fields recently was discontinued, arousing enmity of the prisoners.

Dr. Sidney M. Lister, prison board chairman, commented:

"There is not much we can do about it. It is another of those waves that break out there from time to time."

Ice Coating Paralyzes City Traffic

Autos, Pedestrians Skid As Rain Freezes; Only 2 Hurt In Crashes.

BULLETIN

Relief from the icy streets and sidewalks came shortly after noon as rain started to fall.

A sprinkle of rain which quickly turned to sleet in the below freezing temperatures, coated highways and sidewalks with a smooth veneer of ice today which all but paralyzed motor and pedestrian traffic.

Although no serious accidents were reported, three men were treated at General hospital for injuries, scores of cars and trucks were damaged in wrecks and at least one highway was blocked by wrecked vehicles.

The ice, which did not touch trees and wires, left streets and sidewalks in the most hazardous condition of the winter, state highway patrolmen reported.

The ice blanketed Ohio roads from the Indiana line as far east as Wooster, and from Lake Erie to Columbus, the patrol said.

Five hundred Richland county children got a surprise vacation today when school buses were unable to call at their usual stops to convey them to the Lexington school. The school was ordered closed for the day when bus drivers reported that ice-coated roads made it impossible for buses to pick up the students.

Closing of the Lexington school was the only one reported to County Superintendent Boyd W. Robinson.

There were few cars on city streets this morning and taxi companies did a thriving business, although they were slowed up considerably by the glare of ice.

City street department trucks were called out at 2 a. m. today to cinder and salt hills and streets, and 12 men and four trucks continued working throughout the morning.

Schedule of the Mansfield Rapid Transit company was interrupted by the icy streets during the early morning hours. Some buses ran

CULT SHAKEN

Man, Wife Slain Near House of David Headquarters.

CITY OF DAVID, MICH.—(INS)—Tragedy struck the House of David today in what police believe was a murder and suicide.

The bullet-riddled bodies of Edward Wallace, 23, Denver, Colo., and his wife Pearl, 19, were found this morning in a parked car on the outskirts of the City of David, headquarters of the religious cult.

Police believe Wallace shot his wife after an unsuccessful effort at reconciliation, then killed himself. The couple was married in Denver a year ago. The wife came to visit her grandmother, a House of David member last month. Wallace followed last week in an attempt to persuade her to return west.

The City of David is near Benton Harbor on Lake Michigan.

CRIME SUSPECT FOUND DEAD

Man Had Faced Questioning In Columbus Murder.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Death today eliminated a possible clue in the assault-murder of Miss Alice Lauterbach, 75-year-old Columbus spinster.

Sgt. C. C. Cole, of the detective homocide bureau, disclosed that an elderly man who might have been able to shed light on the brutal crime was found dead in bed. Death was apparently due to natural causes but an autopsy was to be performed.

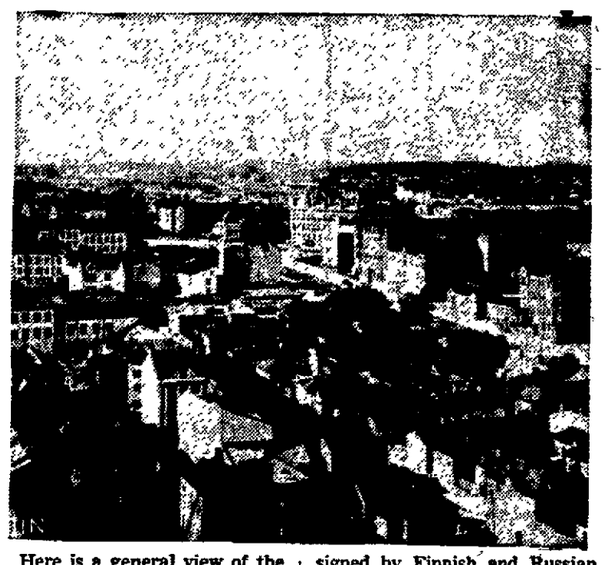
Five suspects, including a 65-year-old junkman who once proposed marriage to the spinster, were freed.

SAVE OWN HOME

Volunteer Firemen Put Out Blaze Near Station.

BALTIMORE, O.—(AP)—Volunteer firemen of Baltimore saved their own headquarters from destruction by fire today. The fire started in the Ohio theater in the room above where fire equipment was stored on the ground floor of the town hall. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Falls Into Russian Hands



Here is a general view of the city of Viipuri, which the Finns fought so valiantly to defend, but which now goes to Russia in accord with the peace treaty signed by Finnish and Russian officials in Moscow last night. The city has long been termed the key to the defense of Leningrad, Russia's second city.

ROOSEVELT GETS 12 DELEGATES

New Hampshire Dem Slate Backs Third Term; Republican Vote Is Heavier.

(By International News Service)

CONCORD, N. H. — Presenting a preview of reaction to the third term issue, almost complete returns today in the New Hampshire Democratic and Republican presidential preference primaries, first in the nation, showed:

1—Eight delegate-at-large candidates and four district delegates pledged to the support of a third term for President Roosevelt at the Democratic national convention in Chicago overwhelmed their opponents;

2—The magic name of Roosevelt accumulated only one fourth the strength of the four Republican delegate-at-large candidates to the G. O. P. national convention in Philadelphia.

3—Democratic delegate candidates pledged to Postmaster General James A. Farley and Vice President John Nance Garner trailed.

4—Two Republican candidates favoring District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, were lost under an avalanche of votes to the four candidates pledged to support United States Senator H. Styles Bridges, a native son.

Some politicos saw the Granite state's primany as a test of the ballot box power of Mr. Roosevelt's name but voting in the cities, Democratic stronghold, was limited only to five hours, while the Republican vote was heaviest in small towns where 224 town

STUDENT KILLS AGED MAN, WIFE

Slays Couple, Attempts to Assault Girl, 17, Then Ends Life.

CHICAGO — (INS) — Double murder of an aged couple, an attempted attack on their 17-year-old granddaughter, and suicide today figured in a tragic last episode for 17-year-old Howard Larimer, brilliant student at a Chicago school for crippled children.

The youth last night entered the apartment of Hugh Welch, 72, and his wife, Mary, 70. He fatally shot both of them. When the granddaughter, Bernadette Welch, returned home, he attempted to attack her, but she screamed and escaped.

He then put a bullet through his right temple.

Charge Attorney Tried to 'Date' Woman on Jury

CINCINNATI — (INS) —Common Pleas Judge Dudley Outcalt today named three members of the bar to determine whether contempt charges should be preferred against Attorney Philip G. Schneider and a woman juror the attorney allegedly tried to "date" during trial of a $150,000 alienation suit.

After being in progress for 15 days, the trial of Dr. Virgil H. Sergeant's suit against Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Perkins, parents of his divorced wife, Polly, was halted and re-trial docketed for March 25.

The woman juror, Mrs. Ann Jones, told the court that Attorney Schneider, during the trial, had tried to "date" her and had said that he was "afraid of that lady who sits next to you,"—Juror Mary Reiners.

Schneider had been present at the trial because Dr. Sergeant also has sued Attorney John Schindel, of Schneider's law office, for $50,000, accusing him of conspiring with the former Mrs. Sergeant's parents to alienate her affections.

STUDIES APPEAL

Pope Says Church Might Act to Restore Peace.

VATICAN CITY —(U.P.)— Pope Pius XII, in an address to cardinals of the church, said that the church might take the lead in a move to restore world peace, it was disclosed today.

The Pontiff, addressing the Cardinals yesterday after ceremonies at St. Peter's Basilica marking the first anniversary of his coronation, warned that the outlook for humanity was "very grave" if war continued.

He said that "no human mind can forecast" the consequences and repercussions of the European war.

Words of peace, the pope said, must be spoken by the church "which is the source of truth, light and justice." He said that so many events had occurred during the past year that they would be sufficient to fill a century of normal history.

OHIO EX-PUBLISHER DIES

DAYTON—(U.P.)—Elzey Gallatin Burkam, 67, publisher of the Dayton Journal and the Dayton Herald for a quarter of a century until those newspapers were sold to Lewis B. Rock in 1935, died today after an illness of several months. Burkam was a native of Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Council to Ask Residents Aid In Correcting House Numbers

A cooperative plan for correcting 5,000 house numbers in Mansfield had been mapped today by city council.

As the first step, councilmen agreed to visit property owners in their wards to seek their aid in replacing the incorrect numbers.

Meeting at a committee of the whole last night, the solons decided the change could be made with more economy by obtaining the cooperation of the property owners, rather than the city supplying the numbers and making the necessary changes and then placing the charges on the tax duplicate.

The plan is to notify property owners of their correct numbers and ask them to make the change within 30 days. Each ward councilman was given a copy of all incorrect numbers in his ward.

At the session, the councilmen agreed to an appropriation of $1,200 for the purchase of new equipment in the waterworks office in order to effect the change on city records.

They instructed City Solicitor Marion D. Ward to draft legislation appropriating funds for the purchase of a new addressing machine in the water department. The ordinance will be given its first reading at the April 2 meeting.

OUSTED STATE WORKER SUES FOR $50,000

RESULT OF AFFIDAVITS

Say They Falsely Accused Him of Intoxication, Soliciting Political Campaign Funds.

(By Staff Correspondent)

ASHLAND—Robert M. Greenlun, ousted from his job as route marking supervisor for the state department of highways, today filed a $50,000 libel suit in the Ashland county common pleas court naming a defendants, Robert M. Beightler, state highway director, Murray D. Shaffer, division engineer, two county Republican executive committee chairmen, and eight others.

The suit is an outgrowth of ouster proceedings instituted against Greenlun.

The action also names Ralph M. Hardy, chairman of the Richland county Republican executive committee, and C. R. Aldrich, chairman of the Republican executive committee of Medina county. Other defendants are employes in the division highway office.

Hardy, now deputy clerk in the Richland county probate court, was formerly employed in the Ashland highway office.

The suit charges the defendants maliciously and with the purpose of destroying his reputation obtained affidavits with the intent

ICY ROADS HIT P. T. A. PARLEY

5 to 12 Counties Represented as District Meeting Opens; State President Speaks.

More than 300 delegates and Mansfield members of the North-central Ohio district of the Parent-Teacher association braved icy roads this morning to attend the opening session of the all-day conference at the new Johnny Appleseed junior high school. It was believed that the weather would keep many away from the meeting. About 700 were expected.

Two large Greyhound buses carrying 80 delegates from the Lorain county units, made the trip successfully but two buses chartered at Fremont were unable to cross the Sandusky river bridge and telephoned that they would be held up until the ice melted enough for the bus to travel.

There are 12 counties in the district and at noon there were representatives from only five at

PROBE CAUSE OF PLANE'S CRASH

Officials Act After Pursuit Ship Falls, Kills Pilot.

DAYTON —(AP)— A board of inquiry of the Army Air corps sought today to determine what caused a (Seversky) pursuit plane capable of speeds up to 300 miles an hour to crash yesterday, killing the pilot, Clark N. Piper, 35, of Paris, Ill.

Piper, attached to the aircraft laboratory at Wright field, was on a routine navigation training flight in the single-seater when the crash occurred three miles north of the field. William J. Payton, a witness, reported that the ship apparently failed to come out of a power dive.

SETS ARMY DAY

Roosevelt Calls for Observance In U. S. on April 6.

WASHINGTON — (INS — President Roosevelt today proclaimed April 6 as "army day" and invited the governors of all the states to issue similar proclamations in order that there might be an "appropriate observance."

The presidential proclamation was issued under the concurrent resolution of congress which annually sets aside that date to call attention to the state of fitness of the U. S. army.

Finnish War Ends With Reds Gaining Harsh Demands

Before - - - After

HERE is a comparison of the demands made by Russia on Finland before the brief but bitter war broke out and the terms contained in the peace treaty signed in Moscow yesterday. Not only are Russia's territorial gains greater now than her demands before the war, but the lives of more than 100,000 men have been snuffed out.

Pre-War Demands

Finland to give Russia:

1. Part of the Rybachi peninsula in the Arctic near the Soviet port of Murmansk.

2. The part of the Karelian isthmus near Leningrad which would have included most of the Mannerheim line.

3. A naval base on the Hango peninsula, commanding the Gulf of Finland.

4. A number of small islands in the Gulf of Finland.

Russia to give Finland:

1. A non-aggresion and trade treaty.

2. The part of Soviet Karelia inhabited by Finns.

3. Withdrawal of Russian objections to the fortification of the Aaland islands.

Post War Treaties

Finland gives Russia:

1. All of Karelian isthmus and the entire shore of Lake Ladoga, wiping out Finland's defenses against invasion from the east.

2. Hango peninsula (on lease).

3. Ribnii and Srenti peninsulas in northeast Finland.

4. The city of Viipuri, Finland's second largest city.

5. Free transit through North Finland between Russia and Norway.

6. Right to construct a railroad through Finnish territory to link Russia and Norway.

7. An agreement not to maintain warships, submarines, or aircraft in arctic region except small coast guard boats.

Russia gave Finland:

1. A non-aggression treaty.

2. A trade treaty (negotiations to begin at once.)

Finn Leader Scores Fellow Democracies

Says Nation Made Peace Because It Had no Faith In Promises of Others, Could Get no Aid.

BULLETIN

BERLIN—(INS)—The Finnish peace delegation to Moscow left the Soviet capital for Helsinki by air today, traveling via Stockholm, according to the German news agency DNB.

(By Associated Press)

HELSINKI—Weary Finland, lacking weapons and skeptical of foreign offers of help, ended her bitter three-and-one-half-months struggle against Soviet Russia today by yielding more soil and economic and military independence than demanded before the war.

At 11 a. m. (4 a. m. EST), the dogged, courageous Finnish army stopped fighting, and a gloomy peace settled over the battlefields, from the corpse-piled Karelian isthmus to icy Lapland.

Beginnnig Friday, the Finnish troops will retreat at the rate of seven kilometers (about 4.5 miles) a day to narrowed frontiers fixed by the treaty signed at Moscow last night.

The treaty still was subject to formal ratification by the Finnish diet within three days.

After an anxious night in which Russia announced the stringent peace terms but the Finnish government was silent, Foreign Minister Vaino Tanner disclosed them in a broadcast to the Finnish people.

Subsequent addresses were scheduled by Finland's President Kyosti Kallio and Field Marshall Baron Carl Gustav Mannerheim.

Finland was forced to yield because she lacked arms and "had no faith in the promises of others" to aid in the unequal struggle against a foe 50 times her size, Tanner declared.

Immediately after the foreign minister's broadcast all flags on public buildings were lowered to half staff.

Helsinki's newspapers appeared with heavy black mourning borders.

News of the peace brought no celebration or scenes of joy in Helsinki, where people heard the terms for the first time from Tanner. Crowds huddled around public radios anxiously, and many women wept.

Apparently Finnish authorities had maintained the nation's morale to such an extent that the man in the street found it difficult to believe it necessary to give up now, although he seemed to feel that if the government decided to end the struggle it would be suicidal to continue it.

Great Britain and France yesterday offered to send 50,000 troops to Finland, but Tanner said, "the only possible route was through Norway and Sweden, who refused to let the troops through. This refusal proved an unconquerable obstacle.

"Thus Finland was left alone

CRITICISM: Britain Gets Scolding for Failing to Aid

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—(AP)—Britain's refusal to give large scale aid to Finland until the Finns appealed for such help was bitterly attacked in the house of commons today by Leslie Hore-Belisha, recently dismissed war secretary.

"Is it not a pity, in relation to the magnitude of these events and of their far-reaching character, to plead as an excuse for inaction a pure technicality?" Hore-Belisha asked.

He spoke immediately after a brief statement to the house by Prime Minister Chamberlain on the peace concluded between Finland and Soviet Russia last night.

Hore-Belisha, who was reported to have urged an expeditionary force for Finland before he was ousted on Jan. 5, entered the debate after Chamberlain had told commons that Britain had made plain its willingness to give all possible help to the Finns "in their gallant struggle against aggression."

"While associating myself with the expressions of sympathy with the Finns," said Hore-Belisha, "is it not a fact that repeated appeals have been made by that country

Valiant Nation Manages to Preserve Liberty

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW — Soviet Russia gained broad territorial, economic and military footholds in Finland today with a treaty ending her costly 105-day war in a fashion which the Kremlin regards as the greatest defeat of the British in a century.

The undeclared war's conclusion was looked upon at the Soviet seat of government as a "splendid contribution to world peace."

(Britain and France, at war with Germany, Rusia's friend, offered yesterday to send an army to aid Finland, but the Finns acceded to Russia's terms last night and said they had lost faith in foreign promises.)

The treaty's terms indicate that Russia has achieved her long-sought security for Leningrad from assault by any power by land or sea over Finnish soil or waters.

Viipuri, the Finnish city which goes to Russia under the treaty, has been called the key to Leningrad's defense since Peter the Great founded Leningrad as St. Petersburg.

The price paid by the Russians in three and one-half months of fighting undoubtedly was a heavy one, but it was pointed out that the Soviet Union was a rich country able and willing to pay well for its gains.

Hostilities ended at noon today (4 a. m. EST.) the announcement said, with the Finnish government allowed three days to ratify the treaty.

The "cease firing" order, given while Finland's war banners were still floating proudly, brought creation of a neutral zone five-eighths of a mile wide between the two armies.

Friday the Finns will start retreating to their new restricted frontiers.

The Finns, who had marshalled all resources of their small nation for the conflict, were stunned by the peace terms which seemed

SHIP BY RAIL

Germany, Italy Agree on New Coal Purchase Plan.

ROME — (AP) — Italy and Germany today signed an agreement whereby the reich agrees to supply Italy's coal needs by rail in view of the Allied sea blockade against shipments by sea.

Details of the agreement were withheld, but it was announced that negotiations for it were started by German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop and Premier Mussolini over the week-end.

It was reported in political circles that German coal would be routed through three or more Alpine passes. Germany is expected in some commercial quarters to supply cars for the coal from the Ruhr and Westphalia, while Italy would use most of its 6,000 cars for transport of coal from Poland.

LOCKED IN ICE

Two Freighters Held Prisoner Off Toledo Harbor.

TOLEDO—(U.P.)—The freighter James Watt and the tug Liberty have been icebound five miles outside Toledo's harbor light since Monday, officials of the Nicholson Transit Line said today.

A northeast wind piled ice into the channel. The freighter E. C. Pope, carrying coal from Toledo to River Rouge, Mich., was damaged by ice Sunday.

Candidates Start Filing Rush, Deadline 2 Days Away

4 MORE ENTER COUNTY RACES, OTHERS READY

Kennedy, Third Democrat to File for Governor; White Petitions Due Tomorrow.

The filing rush for public office aspirants at the May primaries started today at the Richland county board of elections.

Walter Underwood, deputy election board clerk, announced that four more petitions were filed today and said that before the day is out there would be at least a half dozen others with the bulk of the petitions being filed tomorrow and Friday. Deadline for filing is 6:30 p. m. Friday.

Latest to present petitions is G. W. Marriott, incumbent county prosecutor, filing for probate judge. Marriott is a Democrat. Hilas Jenney of Shenandoah, Republican, filed petitions for nomination as county treasurer and Dr. L. B. McCullough filed for the Democratic nomination of county coroner.

G. A. Baer, chairman of the Richland county Democratic central committee, late yesterday presented his petition for 17th district delegate to the Democratic national convention.

Enters Senate Contest.

Local political developments today also saw the entrance of Wilson A. Little of Avon Lake, Lorain county, into the race for state senator from the 27-29th district. Little, a Democrat, is a fruit grower and is in the real estate and insurance business in Lorain.

Political developments over the state included the filing of nominating petitions by Secretary of State Earl Griffith, Republican, seeking re-election.

Former Secretary of State William J. Kennedy of Cleveland, filed for the Democratic nomination as governor. He was the third entrant formally listed for the primaries. Harold G. Mosier of Cleveland, and James F. Flynn of Sandusky, filed previously.

From Marietta came reports today that former Gov. George White probably will file for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination tomorrow.

Joseph F. Heffernan, former Youngstown mayor and former assistant attorney general, filed for the Democratic nomination as attorney general.

In the congressional field, George H. Bender of Cleveland, filed for renomination as congressman-at-large on the Republican ticket, and Fred C. Hotes of Berea, filed for the G. O. P. nomination as state auditor.

Francis W. Durbin of Lima, formally announced candidacy for the Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large.

A dispatch from Columbus said that because he regarded the theft of his petitions as an "omen" that he should not run for lieutenant governor, Charles H. Hubbell, a Cleveland attorney, today announced he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator.

Hubbell said he decided "fate" intended him to run for the senate seat rather than attorney general.

Runaway Balloon Comes to Earth 200 Miles Astray

AKRON —(AP)— A "runaway" balloon periled airway traffic four hours last night as it drifted 200 miles, finally settling at Kittanning, Pa., 50 miles northeast of Pittsburgh.

Airliners scuried to high altitudes through fear of a skyway collision. Commercial Airlines, warned of the unmanned bag, had instructed pilots to remain above 10,000 feet.

The 75-feet, torpedo-shaped balloon, owned by the Goodyear Aircraft corporation, ripped away from a ground crew here while being brought down from an altitude test. Five men sighted the bag near Kittanning and managed to bring it down by looping the dangling guide ropes around a tree.

Indications were that the bag was not damaged. Karl Fickes, Goodyear's chief of blimp operations, said it would be deflated, folded up and brought back on a truck.

A Goodyear spokesman said the balloon escaped as an anchor line snapped, straining three other supports until they too gave way.

ENTERTAINS CLUB

LEXINGTON — Miss Marian Danik entertained members of the Old Pal club last night at her home. Contests were won by the Misses Betty Green and Jane Maxwell. Refreshments were served at a table decorated with St. Patrick appointments. Mrs. John Gamble was a guest. The next meeting will be held with Miss Virgina Chapin.

Tentative Muskingum Tax Relief Mapped

Up and Down THE STREET

Sheriff E. P. Long was out of the city today and his staff of deputies was busy, so Mrs. Long, matron of the jail, batted for them at the telephone desk at the jail. In such instances, "Skippy," the sheriff's dog, also takes up his post. He plops himself down on the top of the sheriff's desk and stays there as long as Mrs. Long is on duty. "He's done that since he was just a pup and whenever I come out here, he knows just what to do. He jumps up on the desk and lays there, looking out the window until I leave," Mrs. Long says.

But today was the first time that he was unable to operate his own car and make his rounds.

Fifth Ward Councilman Fred Miller made a suggestion at last night's council committee meeting that was greeted with unanimous approval. With some 5,000 house numbers in the city to be changed to conform with their correct designation, Miller suggested that a "House Number" day be proclaimed and that it be given over to correctly marking all houses. He promised he'd do his part.

And while golf shoes may seem a little out of season they provided him with the same traction that chains do an auto.

CITES ERROR

Shelby Law Director Cites Pension Board.

SHELBY — City Law Director Frank Long today ruled that the firemen's pension board erred Monday when it amended its laws and regulations, boosting monthly retirement benefits at a special meeting.

Long's opinion was handed to Fire Chief Eugene Schull this morning after the legality of the board's action had been questioned.

The law director ruled that the changes were "illegal" unless made at a regular meeting at which board members had been given four weeks notice and a written copy of the proposal.

The board set the maximum monthly benefits to retired firemen at $100 after 21 years service with $2 per month additional for each year up to 25 worked.

PLAN FOR PARTY

West Fifth P. T. A. to Hold Benefit on April 5.

Plans for a benefit party to be held at the school April 5 were completed last night when members of the West Fifth Street school P. T. A. met at the building. Mrs. C. E. Flockenzier was named general chairman.

Atty. Stuart Cramer spoke on "The Parent and the Child. Music was supplied by James Augustine, pianist, who played "Nola" and "The Charge of the Ulans."

DEVELOP ATHENS RELIEF PROGRAM

State Makes Recommendations, Turns Them Over to Local Officials.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—A four-point program for financing relief in Athens county and the cities of Athens and Nelsonville was left to the consideration of local officials today following recommendations by state welfare department representatives.

The Athens county situation was admittedly serious, however, and state officials agreed that perhaps all their proposals would have to be followed to meet the relief burden.

The proposals included the submission of special tax levies to raise an estimated $30,000 in the county; $15,000 in Athens, and $6,000 in Nelsonville.

Doubt was expressed by local officials, however, that such levies could pass and neither Mayor C. C. Cornell of Athens nor Mayor C. G. Dew, of Nelsonville, appeared to favor them. The levies could not exceed 1.5 mills.

Other state recommendations included:

1. Continuance of relief administration on the present scale established through a 20 per cent reduction in the rolls as a result of an investigation by state inspectors.

2. Issuance of delinquent tax bonds by all three subdivisions which Fred Becker, chief of the county affairs division of the state taxation department, estimated might produce $50,000.

On this score County Auditor C. O. Gibson said $20,000 of the total amount would be required to pay outstanding bills.

RETIRED FARMER TAKEN BY DEATH

Frank Hamilton, 84, Dies In Home Near New London.

NEW LONDON—Frank Hamilton, 84, a retired farmer, died yesterday afternoon at his home in Ruggles township. He had been bedfast for four years.

The body will remain at the Fitch funeral home in New London until Friday when it will be taken to the residence in Ruggles township. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. from the residence. Rev. S. E. Kaetzel, pastor of the Ruggles Federated church, will officiate. Interment will be in Grove street cemetery.

Surviving are the widow, Mary, and two brothers, Charles and Eugene, both of New York state.

Hamilton had been a resident of Ruggles township for 64 years.

NEARLY DEBT FREE, COUNTY NOW OWES ONLY 27 CENTS PER CAPITA

Richland county's public debt last Jan. 1 amounted to only 27 cents per person, compared with 75 cents last year and $30 per capita in 1928, the county's annual financial report showed today.

The above figures represent only the debt owed by the county government and do not include city, state, and national obligations against county residents.

County indebtedness, which will be wiped out this year, totaled $17,150 last Jan. 1. A year ago it was $170,530, and 12 years ago, $2,000,000. The county has issued no new bonds, except for relief purposes, in the past four years. A debt of $36,500 incurred by the county for relief will be paid off from state funds.

The county last year handled $2,940,359 in local, state and federal funds for its 42 taxing districts. General fund receipts for the year amounted to $331,036.

The annual report showed the county collected taxes last year on $93,000,000 worth of property. Population of the county was estimated at 65,902.

General and special property taxes collected in 1939 totaled $1,421,734, classified property taxes amounted to $105,265; state sales tax, $111,275; gasoline and auto license fees $88,338; inheritance tax, $34,778, and cigaret license tax, $9,980.

Allocations of tax money for the year gave cities and villages in the county $549,329; school districts, $732,055; the county, $344,994, and the 18 townships, $149,517.

CALLS TROOPS

Oklahoma Governor Fights to Halt Work on Dam.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—(INS)—Oklahoma's red-haired governor, Leon C. Phillips, today was determined to call out the National Guard to enforce his claims against the federal government in the Grand River dam project.

The governor, who is demanding an $850,000 payment to the state for highways and bridges to be flooded when the dam is completed, announced troops will establish martial law sometime today to prevent the flooding.

The $20,000,000 hydro-electric plant, built by the federal public works administration, was scheduled to be completed within a few weeks.

Gov. Phillips declared he will prevent completion by refusing to permit the last of the concrete to be poured. It will be impossible to impound the water for the dam's reservoir until this is done.

HOURS CHANGED

Mansfield Liquor Stores To Open at 10 a. m. Instead of 9 a. m.

Effective Monday state liquor stores in Mansfield will operate on a reduced opening schedule, it was announced today by Frank Poling, Mansfield manager.

Both Park street and the North Main street stores will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. on week days and from 10 a m. to 11 p. m. on Saturdays and days preceding holidays, Poling said. The stores now open at 9 a. m.

OHIO OFFICIALS WORK ON FLOOD DISTRICT SHIFT

Hope to Switch Burden From Residents in Area to Federal Government.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—A plan under which the Muskingum conservancy district in Eastern Ohio can be transferred to the federal government without any added local taxes has been "tentatively worked out," Rep. Secrest (D) of Ohio, announced late today.

Secrest made the announcement after a four-hour conference with other Ohio legislators, representatives of the district, and taxpayers of the neighboring towns of Zanesville and Coshocton.

Delegates to the conference said it was necessary to raise $464,000 in order to transfer the district to federal control. This sum, they said, will not be obtained by taxation, but declined to disclose what means they have in mind.

In addition to Secrest, those who attended the conference representing the public, were:

Congressmen McGregor, Jenkins, Seccombe and Lewis; State Rep. Ralph C. Marshall, Zanesville; Karl Dixon, Ohio chamber of commerce; Trent Sickles, League of Ohio Sportsmen; Walter Fry; Columbus; H. D. Bell, Dennison, and C. L. Logsdon, T. M. Lynn and Wilson McConnell, all of Zanesville.

District Officials Present.

Representatives of the Conservancy district who were present included:

Charles Spencer, Newark, district director; Bryce C. Browning, New Philadelphia, district director; Cletus Fisher, New Philadelphia, district counsel; Warner Pomerene, Coshocton, attorney, and C. C. Chambers, New Philadelphia, district engineer.

District representatives and state officials have been working on a plan whereby the facilities of the district, including 14 dams, may be used for recreation purposes after the federal government takes it over. However, it was pointed out, such would not be the case if the district were turned over to the war department merely as a flood control project.

Property owners in the area, however, are more interested in ceeding over the property to the government to avoid payment of special assessments, one of which now is due.

DIES ON STREET

Ashland Woman Stricken in Downtown Ashland.

ASHLAND — Mrs. Scott Freer, 76, of 322 East Third street, fell dead yesterday while walking on the sidewalk on Ashland's Main street. Dr. George Emery, Ashland county coroner, said death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mrs. Freer was born April 14, 1863, and was a native of Ashland county. Her husband preceded her in death several years ago.

She is survived by two sons, Harry Hilde and John Hilde, and a sister, Mrs. A. Elizabeth Slocum.

She was a member of Trinity Lutheran church.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the late home with Rev. A. H. Smith and Rev. H. H. Lentz officiating.

BUTLER WOMAN TAKEN BY DEATH

Mrs. Anna B. Grubb, 37, Succumbs In Mt. Vernon Hospital.

BUTLER—Mrs. Anna B. Grubb, 37, died in Mercy hospital in Mt. Vernon last night after a short illness.

Surviving are her husband, Walter; three children, Norma Jean, Royal and Lois; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wiggins of Loudonville, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Hoefflicer of Mansfield and Mrs. Glenn Arnholt of Loudonville.

Funeral services will be held at the Sand Ridge church at 2 p. m. Friday with Rev. Avery Butler officiating. Burial will be in Sand Ridge cemetery. The body will be at the George funeral home until the time of services.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

* * * * *

Bing Crosby is a busy chap. Always working, what with one thing and another—pictures, radio, horses, golf. Always something on his mind. And a chap like that, who works hard and looks lazy, just naturally fits into a tropic background.

That's just one theoretical explanation of the fact that Crosby seems very happy amid the goings-on depicted in this generally amusing, frequently hilarious picture. He's as happy as he was in "Waikiki Wedding," which took him to the lazy sunshine of Hawaii with happy results for the Paramount exchequer.

The tropic background, with its invitation to visitors to go native, is right up the Crosby alley. Bing is no great shakes for dolling up; he's flashy when he does it, but generally he likes to mosey around in caps and sweaters such as the well-dressed movie star shouldn't wear. "The Road to Singapore" makes Crosby keep his pants creased only in a few sequences; before the picture has gone two reels, his crisp yachting uniform has been reduced to a limp white bag, and Crosby is "at home" abroad.

THE spirit of lightness that is woven through the film's texture is by no means entirely attributable to the Crosby comfort. There's a fellow named Hope. This is the first time the rival radio stars have worked together, and it's a happy teaming.

The story is about a couple of guys, one a big shipping family's scion who would rather nibble the lotus blossom than sit behind a desk, the other a happy-go-lucky chap who has no desk to tie him down. Crosby, the scion, is a fugitive from a family-sponsored marriage (to Judith Barrett) and from the law besides after he and Hope become involved in a couple of brawls.

They are bound for Singapore but arrive practically broke on an island where they reiterate their joint determination to have nothing to do with women. That's just before Lamour, the dancing girl, hoves into view. At this point the plot settles down into a mess of complications—Lamour's partner, Quinn, and Crosby's ex-fiancee, Barrett, contributing a share.

The whole blending of comedy and music reaches a capital climax in a native wedding festival, more fun than anything that has gone before. The music throughout is pleasant: a novelty number called "Captain Custard," a sentimental ballad about the moon and a weeping willow tree sung by a meltingly Lamourous Lamour, the hit-potentiality called "Too Romantic," and the "Sweet Potato Piper."

WITH top-notch comic dialogue Hope, and Crosby play together nicely, and both turn in excellent performances, aided by the occasional stooging of the weirdly funny Colonna. The two stars did a bit of al-libbing on the sets, which may account for the spontaneity often noticeable in their sallies.

HEAD OF MOOSE TO SPEAK HERE

Supreme Governor of Lodge Coming for Initiation April 30.

Plan April Affairs for Mayflower Church Class

Plans were made for a conference supper April 13, and the third annual birthday party of the class on April 17 yesterday when Mrs. Glen Morr, 31 Grant street, entertained members of the Love and Friendship class of the Mayflower Congregational church. Both affairs will be held at the church.

Mrs. Mark Southward, assisted by Mrs. Roscoe Harter, Mrs. H. O. Dysart and Miss Imogene Bennett, led the devotions. Group singing followed, and the group spent the evening sewing for the birthday party. Miss Bennett won the prize, and refreshments were served. Mrs. Dysart, 498 Parkview street, will entertain April 9.

Naomi Circle Members Meet for Dessert-Bridge

Members of Naomi Circle of the White Shrine met for a dessert-bridge party at the Grotto hall, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Ruby Dye was chairman of arrangements. The buffet table was attractively decorated with a large parchment high hat of green which was surrounded with green candles in crystal holders.

During the business session an auditing committee was appointed which is composed of Mrs. Ida Troll, chairman, Mrs. Maryellen Nixon and Miss Lenora Horn. Later bridge was played at seven tables with prizes won by Mrs. W. B. Crider, auction, and Mrs. Della Uhler, contract. The next meeting will be held on April 9 at the hall in charge of Mrs. Rhoda Fisher.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

At Lillian's enthusiastic declaration, my father smiled indulgently at her.

"Thank you, my dear," he said. "I wish your compliment may be justified. Just at present, I confess, I have nothing in mind. Needless to say, Noel and Mary will never be permitted within reach of Leslie's hands—or marksmanship. But in some way I am gong to make him believe that they have been delivered to him, and that our farm is defenseless. And, of course, the first step is to find out just what Leslie's own plan is. That was the reason for my message."

He took a sip of water from a glass on a table beside him, and went on.

"Do not fear that I am overdoing," he said. "I am almost through. Before I consider this problem at all, I am going to sleep for an hour or two. I wish you would all think it over, and when I call you together again, I wish you would give me the benefit of any suggestions you have. I shall need them all, I am afraid."

"You know that's purely rhetorical, Chief," Lillian said audaciously. "When you waken, you'll have everything mapped out. But of course we're all going to rack our respective alleged brains, and tell you any crazy ideas we may evolve—But tell me before I die of curiosity: "Did Leslie send you any proof that he has the necklace?"

"He sent me one of the emeralds," my father said. "I have knowledge enough of gems to be certain that it was not an imitation stone, and because of Queen Olga's revelations of her secret markings upon the stones, I was enabled to ascertain that it really was a part of the famous necklace. I handed it back to him with the comment that I was satisfied, for just now it is vitally important that Jack Leslie be convinced that he has fooled me completely."

He put his head back wearily against his pillow and closed his eyes.

"If you will send Miss Whitlock to me now," he said, "I shall be grateful. But please keep yourselves free for a consultation with me after I awake from my nap."

We filed out silently, and sent in the competent nurse whose ministrations my father had first rejected, then found indispensable. Then I turned to the rest of them tensely.

"I mustn't wait a minute before getting hold of Mary and putting her through that last rehearsal—our own version." I spoke the last words in a lowered voice. "Then I shall be free when father wants me."

"All right, beat it," Dicky said good-humoredly. "We'll hold the fort and send word to you when you're wanted."

"Don't you dare!" I retorted. "Not even for Father will I cut short this last rehearsal with Mary. I will come back to you the second I'm finished, but if he wants me before then—"

"It will be just too bad," my husband gibed, "especially for the poor goof"—he pointed dramatically to himself—"who will have to break the news to Dad. But blessings on thee, little lass."

"Don't pay any attention to the ravings of an idiot," Lillian advised, leading me down the hall. But when we were out of sight and earshot of our men, she pulled me into her own room and shut the door.

"Tell me this," she said, keeping her voice low. "Where are you going to stage this rehearsal with Mary?"

Something significant in her voice made me pause before I answered her. Then inspiration came to me.

"In the rooms which Katie and Jim have over the kitchen," I said.

"Good!" she commented. "Then there'll be no possible chance of dear little Olina overhearing you. We'll give her the benefit of the doubt that she wouldn't spill the beans to her prospective step-papa, but I think you're wise to take no chances on her possible indiscretion."

"I'm glad you approve," I said sincerely. "And now I must go and awaken Mary."

She snatched at my sleeve and caught me securely.

"Not so fast!" she said. "Have either of you had anything to eat since breakfast?"

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THREE VITAL REASONS

THERE CAN be lots of different reasons for overtaking a winning card led or played by your partner. When you can do it on the defense against No Trump and thus assure yourself of a chance for an additional lead which will set up the remainder of your suit, that is one vital reason. If doing that is necessary to get the suit established before your side entry or entries can be knocked out, you have a second one. If taking the lead from him so you can knock an entry out of the dummy before its suit is established, you find a third. Sometimes the three are more or less combined in a single play.

West reckoned here that he had South right where he wanted him, and that more points could be made beating the No Trump contract than by taking out in diamonds. He was right in passing, but later upset the apple cart with a bad play.

After West's correct lead of the diamond 10 to the A and South's lead of the spade J to the K, East returned the diamond J. If West had overtaken that with the Q and then led a third diamond to knock out the K, he could have raised Merry Ned with the declarer. As the latter led a second spade, West could have passed it and taken the third spade, thus killing the dummy while he himself took two more diamonds, then switched to a club. Played this way, the defenders could have taken eight tricks and the declarer only five, thus being set two.

When West failed to overtake the diamond J, East had to shift. Unfortunately he picked a club. South won, led a spade, then another to West, who knocked out the diamond K. The last spade was won in dummy, then the club 10 finnessed, declarer thus making his contract with two spades, two diamonds and three clubs.

If North opens this deal with a psychic 1-Heart to try to prevent game, how should East and West bid to get there anyway?

Six members were present Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Conrad Schmitt, 241 South Main street, entertained the German Pioneer society at her home. The afternoon was spent socially and at a late hour a luncheon was served. The next meeting wil lbe held April 9 with Mrs. W. M. Hammermiller, Fifth avenue, as hostess.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, March 14.

A DAY of swift-moving and stirring events is forecast from a very interesting chain of planetary configurations. It is a day blanketed by the curious advice to expect the unexpected, for there will be sudden visitations both singular and unpredictable, and these will have far-reaching influence in shaping the future destiny and fortune. There are auguries of the weird, psychological and devastating, but all unite to make a pattern of surprising success, unexpected progress and strange adventures, probably in business, affectional and spiritual relationships.

Those whose birthday it is are on the brink of a year of strange and entirely unforeseen, possibly unprecedented adventures and experiences. It would be well to anticipate all manner of sudden visitations, which may have deep influence on the business, social, creative and romantic life. Handled with discrimination and a degree of poise and wise adjustment, they are likely to have thrilling denouements. There may be premonitions, psychic insight or lofty creative urges in the realm of poetry, music or fiction.

A child born on this day may be unusually original and talented in unique expression. It may have a strange career, with romance and adventure, culminating in success and possibly renown.

TWO CLUBS CONDUCT AFTERNOON SESSIONS

Mrs. Shafer Reviews Book Before One Organization; Paper on "Chemurgy" Presented By Mrs. S. D. Hoover to Tourists.

AT THE MEETING of the Tuesday Book club yesterday with Mrs. W. C. Stevens, Mrs. Charles L. Shafer reviewed "Diego Rivera: His Life and Times" by Bertram Wolfe. Two guests, Mrs. Arthur Sprecker and Mrs. William Bower, were present. Mrs. Donald Black gave the book news.

Tea was served at a table decorated with iris and acacia. Mrs. Bower poured. The next meeting will be a guest session March 26 with Mrs. Roger Black and Mrs. Wesley Carr entertaining at the Riding Hall at Raemelton Farms.

Atty. George Biddle of the Mansfield Civil Service commission spoke on "Civil Service" yesterday at the meeting of the Tourist club when members and guests were entertained at the Women's Club by Mrs. Weldon Close. Mrs. W. L. Parkinson, president, was in charge of the session, and Mrs. J. W. Galbraith introduced the guest speaker.

Mrs. S. D Hoover read the paper on "Chemurgy," the science of using chemicals to transform non-edible products into foodstuffs.

Mrs. L. L. Seybold announced the Dental Clinic benefit bridge parties which will be held at the American Legion Home, March 27 and 28, and the club voted to give its support, and also to send a girl from the Children's home to a summer camp.

The following women were appointed to the nominating committee, Mrs. R. F. Miller, Mrs. C. V. Gates, and Mrs. Galbraith. They will report at the next meeting which will be a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Women's Club, March 26. Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. William Jesson will be the hostesses, and Mrs. D. C. Cole and Mrs. Frank Leavitt will give the papers of the afternoon.

Guild Plans Sale of Colored Easter Eggs

Members of the St. Paul Guild met at the home of Mrs. Floyd O'Brien, 124 West Second street, for the regular March meeting with Mrs. Ray Swaney leading the devotions, and Mrs. W. B. Linn giving a number of poems written by a former member, her cousin, Mrs. Margaret Nungesser McNary of California.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Paul Lee, and plans were completed for the Easter sale of colored eggs. Mrs. James Rizer was a guest. The contest winner was Mrs. E. G. Pankow. Refreshments were served at a table decorated with St. Patrick appointments. Plans were made to have a white elephant sale at the home of Mrs. Roland Stahl, 550 South Diamond street, April 9. Mrs. Henry Wappner will be in charge of the devotions.

Modeling Chic Easter Finery From Mansfield Shops

With the approach of Easter, Mansfield stores are all prepared to outfit milady for the day. Coats, suits, dresses and costume ensembles of the highest fashion are being featured, with hats, shoes, gloves and other accessories to compliment them. The finery of the season shown on this page was obtained from the local shops and modeled by a group of young Mansfield women. If you're interested in learning where these styles may be purchased, you can do so by calling The News-Journal at Canal 4251.

Mrs. Adam Brandt is wearing a jacket dress of light-weight wool in the new shade, Rhett Butler gray. The skirt of the one-piece dress is plain gray, while the blouse and jacket are striped in lighter gray. A gray felt hat, double silver fox scarfs, black gabardine pumps and gray kid gloves complete her outfit. The jacket closes with small black buttons and the breast pockets are trimmed with the same.

The casual coat is as popular as ever this spring. Miss Kay Baker's is of yellow and black plaid with a graceful, swinging back and hip-line slash pockets. With she wears a sport hat of soft yellow felt, black gloves and black gabardine pumps. A soft scarf of yellow chiffon is tied in an ascot manner at the neck of her coat, which has perky lapels.

Boleros are smart for Easter dresess too. Miss Eileen Logan is modeling an ensemble of that type. The black crepe skirt is stitched with diagonal white wool, and white pearl buttons trim the red crepe blouse. A black chiffon pocket kerchief lends a contrast to the jacket. Miss Logan's hat is of red cellophane braid tied with a red taffeta bow, while her shoes, gloves and purse combine black patent leather and gabardine.

This dressy, fitted coat of soft navy blue wool, which Miss Betty Hammel is wearing, is trimmed with eyelet embroidered collar and cuffs of white pique. The front closes with silver buttons, while the back of the coat has several full-length insertions of fullness. Miss Hammel's wide brimmed hat is of rough blue straw with a grosgrain ribbon streamer bow at the back. Her gloves and shoes are navy too.

Shopping Around...

With MARIANNE

ALTHOUGH the weather today isn't very conducive to talk about Easter togs, we've almost two weeks until that day, when—if we're lucky—the skies may be blue and the breezes balmy, so it's really high time to start planning your new spring wardrobe. . . . Suits are as popular as ever this year, and the variety of styles, which are being shown in the downtown stores, are smart and attractive. . . . There are man-tailored twills in navy, black and brown as well as light-weight wools in the same styles—some of these are brightened with satin binding around the collar and coat lapels. . . . If you prefer the dressmaker type suit with ornamental buttons, front and back fullness and a belted waistline, you'll find what you're looking for in the local shops—and for a light touch, many of these suits have eyelet-embroidered pique collars and cuffs.... Soft woolen pastels in fitted princess styles are also popular for springtime wear.

Marianne

Coats of the season have been designed to suit most all feminine tastes. . . . Some are swagger plaids in pastel as well as bright colored tones, while other tweed and soft woolen swaggers are topped with fluffy fur collars. . . . Fitted models in navy, brown and black twills are smart with white touches—either eyelet embroidered collars and cuffs, pique piping or soft ascot scarfs. . . . Reefer coats are trimmed with gleaming satin, and other fitted styles have back fullness and silver or gold button closings.

Some of the newest purses are those envelopes of roman-striped silk in soft pastels and bright colors. . . . If you always have had trouble finding the coin purse in your pocketbook, you can breathe a sigh of relief, because those days are gone forever. . . . The newest purses have tiny coin containers attached to the pull of the zipper closing—these match the gabardine of the purse itself. . . . The pretty beaded linen pocketbooks, which are being shown downtown now, will lend just the right touch to your dressy costumes—they're made in pink, heaven blue and navy linen trimmed with white beaded designs and lined with white pique.

THE blouse of your new suit will need just the right touch at the neckline, so how about one of those new carved wooden heads for a sport outfit? Farmer Jones has real fur whiskers, while some Oriental girls have large gold earrings and some red duck-billed natives have rows of gold necklaces under their chins. . . . For the dressier blouse, jewelry counters are featuring pastel tinted flowers of glass to lend a gay springtime note.

If you're looking for an Easter gift to give one of your young friends, you'll find those cute soap toys and scrubbies to be the delight of any child's heart. . . . All carved from soap, there are two ducks, dressed up like a bride and groom . . . white rabbits in red and green cellophane raincoats . . . ducks with a nest of pastel-tinted soap eggs . . . an Easter bunny selling pastel-tinted soap eggs . . . and a little yellow dumb-bunny, wearing a red felt dunce cap, carrying a slate reading "one plus one equals three." Scrubbies are gay little soap filled terrycloth animals on a cord to make bathing fun for youngsters.

WEARIN' O' THE GREEN: It would seem as though most of the men in Mansfield are a bit Irish at heart—they're all that fond of green. . . . So their part of the Easter parade will be given over to that color—in conservative suits as well as brighter rough tweeds. . . . Topcoats tend toward green as do hats, ties and other accessories. So it would seem we weren't quite accurate last week when we said that green wasn't so popular this year as a spring color for men—and did we hear about it from them!!

Note: The styles described above are available in Mansfield shops. You can learn where they may be obtained if you will telephone Marianne at The News-Journal between 1 and 2:30 p. m.—Canal 4251.

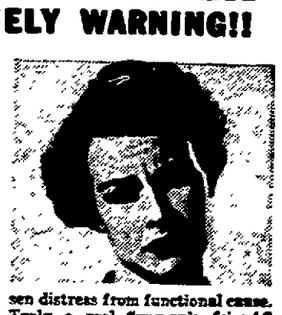
"MIDDLE-AGE" WOMEN

HEED THIS TIMELY WARNING!!

If you're approaching middle-age (38 to 52) and fear dizzy fainting spells, hot flashes—if you notice yourself getting restless, cranky, moody and NERVOUS lately—these annoying symptoms may be due to female functional distress—

So be smart! Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, famous for over 60 years in helping hundreds of thousands of weak, rundown, nervous women to go smiling thru this "trying time."

Pinkham's Compound is made especially from nature's own beneficial roots and herbs to help calm overtaxed, sensitive nerves and lessen distress from functional cause. Truly a real "woman's friend." Why not give Pinkham's Compound a chance to help YOU?



Three Girls Take Part In Recital Presented at Club

ATTIRED in formal gowns with corsages of gardenias three of Mansfield's young musicians appeared in recital last night at the Women's Club before a group of parents, friends and relatives. Miss Lois Robinson, violin student of Daisie M. Gibson, was given her senior recital with the assistance of Miss Betty Austin, soprano, student of Edith Fletcher Jameson, and Mildred Hart, violin. Miss Janet Baughman, piano student of Marie Marks Porterfield, was accompanist for the violin numbers, while Margaret B. Hall accompanied Miss Austin.

Miss Robinson opened her program with "Andantino" by Kreisler, "Village Dance" by Burleigh, and "Arioso" by Bach-Franko. "Kiss Me Again" by Herbert, "Annie Laurie" by Scott and "A Spirit Flower" by Campbell-Tipton were Miss Austin's selections. Miss Robinson and Miss Hart played "Bouree" by Stoessel and "Cradle Song" by Godard.

"Care Nome" from "Rigoletto" by Verdi and "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair" by Foster were two other numbers by Miss Austin. Miss Robinson and Miss Austin concluded with the four movements of "Sonata No. 4 in D Major" by Handel.

White pearl buttons form the closing of the fitted jacket of this navy blue crepe dress that Miss Beverly Schwein is showing. The swing skirt is topped with a blouse of white eyelet embroidered batiste, and the reverse on the jacket as well as the cuffs of the bracelet-length sleeves are also batiste. Miss Schwein's blue straw hat is faced with white straw and trimmed with a wide band of white grosgrain ribbon. Her gloves and gabradine sandals are navy blue.

Organize Garden Club At Mrs. Spreng's Home

The organization meeting of the Buckeye Garden club was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Charles Spreng, 322 North Townview circle, with officers being elected at that time. Mrs. Earl P. Gaar is the president, and she will be assisted by Mrs. Howard Peck, vice-president; Mrs. Ben Goodenough, recording secretary and treasurer; Mrs. William Mogg, corresponding secretary.

The program committee is headed by Mrs. Thomas Siegenthaler assisted by Mrs. Jack Berno and Mrs. C. L. Lake. Mrs. B. B. Drummond is conservation chairman and Mrs. Gene Zediker is horticulture chairman. The first regular meeting of the club season will be held March 29 with Mrs. Deming Lowrey, Edgewood road, at 11 a. m.

Miss Randall Speaks Before Newman Parents Last Night

COMMUNITY singing was conducted by Miss Doris Mann last night for the opening of the meeting of the Newman P. T. A. Miss Frances Randall, adult education teacher, spoke on "Sharing Home Duties." She traced the development of training children in doing household tasks from infancy to the time when they have homes of their own.

Music was supplied by the Mt. Calvary Baptist choir directed by R. B. Hopper, and assisted by the Mitchell Chapel Four. Mrs. E D. Clark, Toledo, was guest soloist, and Mrs. Josephine Blakley sang solo sections. The choir was accompanied by Mrs. Leola Smith.

Hostesses were Mrs. Grace Pocock, chairman, Mrs. Peter Kiser, acting chairman, Mrs. Samuel Laughlin, Mrs. Arthur Kimes, Mrs. Leo Karsmizki, Mrs. A. E. McBride, Mrs. Peter Kindinger, Mrs. George Mellick, and Mrs. H. S. Plaut.

Mrs. Don Weaver, president, conducted the session during which Mrs. Karsmizki was appointed school garden contest chairman. Mrs. Weaver appointed Mrs. Homer Bonecutter and Mrs. Thomas Raison, to attend the Northcentral District P. T. A. conference which is in session at the Johnny Appleseed school today.

Announcement was made of the Junior Safety council meeting to be held April 9 at 4 p. m. at the school to which parents are invited. Miss Mann announced the Dental Clinic Benefit bridge parties which will be held March 27 and 28 at the American Legion home. The next regular session will be held April 9.

MEET TOMORROW.

The regular meeting of the Mansfield Story Telling league will be held Thursday at 7 p. m. at the home of Miss Ruth Maffet, Scholl road.

Bethany Circle Members Entertained at Luncheon

Luncheon was served to members of Bethany circle yesterday when Mrs. N. O. Weamer, 462 Park avenue west, opened her home to members of Bethany circle of the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. L. B. McCullough, Mrs. J. B. Simons, Mrs. Norman Wolfe, Mrs. W. J. Robbins and Mrs. P. F. Haley were the associate hostesses.

The Girl Scout cookie week which is now in progress was announced, and Mrs. Russell Gimbel gave an illustrated talk on the Friendly House. The next meeting will be held April 9, with the place and time to be announced later.

HAVE DINNER.

Hostesses for the covered-dish dinner of the Florence Welty missionary society of the First Lutheran church Monday night were Mrs. Marian Sharrock, Miss Doris Simmons, Mrs. Edith Garrison and Mrs. Gladys Brightbill. The tables which were set in the Parish house for 41 were decorated with St. Patrick appointments. Miss Anita McLaughlin sang two solos.

Mrs. Andrews at Pilgrim Guild Luncheon Meet

Luncheon was served at long tables to 92 members and guests of the Pilgrim Guild of the First Congregational church yesterday when Mrs. Harold Andrews, member of the faculty of Ashland college, spoke on "The Romance of the Bible" in the church library. The long luncheon tables were decorated with jonquils, fuchsia and sweet peas.

Hostesses were Mrs. F. J. Schuster, Mrs. W. B. Osborn, Mrs. R. F. Carr, Mrs T. J. Patton, Mrs. L. A. Peck, Mrs. Anna Potter, Mrs. Burton Preston, Miss Mary Proctor, Mrs. M. V. Scouten, Mrs. D. P. Smith, Mrs. Paul Stevens, Mrs. E. K. Troll and Mrs. Peter Young. Mrs. Peck was honored at this meeting in celebration of her birthday anniversary.

Mrs. H. H. Clingan introduced and accompanied Miss Lois Robinson, violinist, who played two selections.

Mrs. Andrews compared the literature of the Bible with that of Shakespeare, pointed out the beautiful philosophy of life shown, and told how the needs of today were met by the Bible. She presented the entire book of Job as a drama. The next meeting will be April 9.

HAVE DINNER.

A covered-dish dinner was served to members of the Notre Dame Study club last night at the home of Mrs. C. J. Wehinger. The table was decorated with green tapers and appointments. Mrs. Emmett Casey conducted the business meeting, and Mrs. O. A. Shoup reviewed "The Delussan Family." The next meeting will be a guest party April 16 at the home of Mrs. J. M. O'Hara, Westwood avenue.

Approaching Marriage Announced to Friends

Public announcement was made today of the approaching marriage of Miss Mary Ann Jasinsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Jasinsky, 65 McPherson street, to Anton Schadek, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Schadek, sr., 378 First avenue. The ceremony will be performed at 10:30 a. m. April 6 at St. Peter's Catholic church.

Announcement was made earlier this week at a party given by Mrs. Jasinsky to 20 friends. Bridge and hearts were played, and prizes were won by Mrs. Roger Lomax and Miss Glada Green. Luncheon was served at small tables decorated with green and white candles and miniature corsages of roses and sweet peas.

HAVE SESSION.

Mrs. Marshall Long, Lida street, entertained members of the Golden Rule class at her home with the assistance of Mrs. George Stickler, yesterday. Mrs. Pearl Shoup led the devotions, and there were 23 members present. Games were played with Mrs. May Cline and Mrs. Clarence Boals winning. Mrs. Harold Cairns will entertain April 9 at her Bowman street home.

OBLIGATE THREE.

Three members were obligated at the meeting of the Daughters of Isabella which was held at the club rooms Tuesday evening. They were Mrs. Joseph Geiger, Mrs. Paul Herlihy and Mrs. Jean Meder. Announcement was made that the Shelby Circle will entertain the local group with a card party at Shelby on March 25. The next regular meeting will be a social on March 26 in charge of Mrs. George Stuhldreher. Four tables of auction and four of contract were in play for the tournament session. High scores were won by Mrs. John Newcomer and Miss Isabel Gerstmeyer.

May we suggest that for better service you shop before Saturday afternoon.

Glover-Brush Bout Heads Mitt Program Tonight

Zacharias, Carbetta Also to Appear on Amateur Show At Friendly House.

MANSFIELD'S first amateur fight show of the year will be staged at the Friendly House at 8:15 p. m. today.

Seven top-flight matches are on tap and should reward boxing fans with some thrilling action.

Heading the parade of outstanding simon pure leather slingers is Beauford Glover, a lightweight, who has established himself as one of the finest fighting machines developed in this district in several years.

A Cleveland Golden Gloves open champion, the dusky ring master tangles with Tony Brush of Cleveland in the main event. It will be a five round setto.

Two other five-round bouts, featuring leading Mansfield mittsters, are combined to make up the semi-finals.

Jack Zacharias, a 160-pound whirlwind, meets Bert Smith of Cleveland, in one of the tussles, while Paul Carbetta, 112, Mansfield's gift to the flyweight division, faces Carl Netzel, Cleveland in the other.

Al Sauer, an Ontario high school student, clashes with Ted Earan of Cleveland in a three-round middleweight match. This stacks up as the top bout in the shorter affairs.

One more Mansfield lad, John Emerson, 126, will engage Gene Wertman of Ashland; Ray Howman, another Ashlander, battles Ted Hertch, 135, the fifth Lake city lad in the show, and Joe Carbetta, 112, tackling his first ring opponent, meets an Ashland lad in the other heats.

Six future Mansfield champions will entertain the spectators in three early matches. The boys are members of the classes being conducted by the Friendly House under the direction of John Eichinger.

Eichinger will be the third man in the ring. Judges for the fight are Paul M. Eliot, Joe Scanlon and "Gip" Miller. Sam Fox will be the official timer.

Tickets may be purchased today at the City News, Daley Cafe, Hunt's New Depot, Ritz Night club and the Friendly House. General admission ducats will go on sale at the settlement at 7 p. m.

IN THE RUHL BOOK

By OSCAR RUHL,
News-Journal Sports Editor.

WHILE basketball is definitely regarded as an offensive game, the teams that know something about defense are generally the ones found in the state finals.

Checking over the records of the quintets which advanced to the Columbus championship games, we find that all of them have compiled fairly decent defensive records.

Had our Tygers won over Bellevue the other night and qualified for the state tournament, the Mansfield boys would go into the elimination this week with one of the better offensive marks, but with the poorest won and lost record.

The Tygers' defensive record would also have been one of the poorest, with only Martins Ferry and Canton Lehman faring worse in this department than the Mansfield quintet.

Mansfield averaged 35 points in 20 games this season against 29 for the opposition.

These figures indicate that Clair Bee, former Mansfield high coach, knew what he was talking about on his last visit here when he said something about being ready to start to "teach defensive basketball again."

Beer, Miller Set Tyger Scoring Pace.

DURING the cage season recently closed by their elemination in the district finals, the Tygers tallied a total of 705 points against 581 for their oppinents.

Big Russ Beer was the leading scorer for the Tygers with 176 points, which were compiled from 64 field goals and 48 free throws.

Next to the tall center was Gene Miller, who finished only two points in the rear. He scored 69 field goals again and 36 free throws for 174 points.

The only other Tyger to reach the century mark was Jack Shiplet, who was third with 48 fielders, 23 charity toses and 119 points.

Scoring records of other Tygers follow: Don Rose, 88; Gene Rudolph, 46; Harry Phillips, 42; Bill Herpich, 30; Chuck Atlon, 12; Martin Henke, 7; Dave Prion, 7; Charley Burton, 5; Dick Burkholder, 5; Joe Kieffer, 2. Joe Romano, 1

All of these players will be back next season except Miller, Beer, Rose, Herpich, Prion, Rudolph and Atton.

Women Bowlers Deserve Orchids.

ONE OF the finest scores ever bowled in the Women's Inter-City tournament, which ended in Lima over the week-end, almost passed unnoticed.

We refer to the 1096 total compiled by Evelyn Jocha and Donna Schuster of Mansfield in the double event. Their score not only won this year's duo championship, but it was the second highest ever rolled in the tournament.

While we-re handing out orchids, the members of the Meder Recreation team must not be forgotten. They won the five-women title with a lot to spare. Their total of 2675 was 235 pins better than the runner-up score.

STRIPPED OF RICHES, TOMMY TAKES CITY JOB

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Tommy Patrick Loughran, stripped by misfortune of most of the riches he piled up in his sensational ring career, is holding down a $2,500 a year city job.

Mayor Robert E. Lamberton made the former lightheavyweight champion, idol of millions of fight fans less than ten years ago, "executive secretary and supervisor" in the bureau of recreation. Loughran campaigned for Lamberton last year.

FINNISH SLUGGER LOSES TO MANN IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK —(INS)— While a Finnish delegation last night was accepting Russia's severe peace terms, Gunner Barlund, of Finland, went down to defeat at the hands of Nathan Mann, New Haven heavyweight, in a 10-round bout staged for the benefit of the Finnish Relief fund.

A capacity crowd of 12,000 saw Mann outpoint Barlund in a free-slugging match which however produced no knock-downs. Mann weighed 191; Barlund 199½.

EDWARDS CONSIDERED FOR VANDERBILT POST

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Vanderbilt university is interested in William (Big Bill) Edwards as its head football coach. Edwards, pilot of Western Reserve university's Red Cats, said he would give "utmost consideration" to any offer that might be made.

The Cleveland coach said he had been contacted "indirectly," a Vanderbilt representative asking him to "send them information about my coaching record." His year-to-year contract at Reserve expires in July.

Stress Speed In Grid Drills

Tyger Coaches Attempt to Build Fast Eleven to Offset Lack of Size.

Although it'll be quite some time before the roar of the tense gatherings echo through the stadium as a shifty ball packer streaks toward the goal line, there's plenty of activity out at Mansfield high these days as the Tygers go through their spring football sessions.

Coach Paul Snyder and his assistants trying to mould together a fighting eleven which he hopes will be able to hold up under the tough schedule are busy looking over some 100 candidates.

While the 1940 combine will be small compared to previous Mansfield grid editions, Snyder is attempting to use every available speed merchant in an effort to offset that weakness.

Pleased with the polished work of a backfield consisting of Adam Brandt, Bill Doolittle, Jim Templeton and Earl Garnes, the Tyger mentor is seeking a forward wall capable to opening holes for the fleet foursome. Garnes is the only senior of the quartet.

Snyder's No. 1 eleven in brief scrimmage session yesterday was composed of Bob Winbigler and Joe Romano, ends; George Murray and Joe Horvath, tackles; Bob Wendland and John Weber, guards and Paul Deitzel, center.

Among the list of backfield prospects is Elroy Jones, a sophomore. Jones, a member of Coach Harry Mehock's track squad, is a sprinter, and may land a starting berth next fall because of his speed.

Rookie Stars As Reds End Losing Streak

John Hutchings Yields Only Three Hits in Four Frames In Win Over Cards.

TAMPA, Fla. —(U.P.)— The pitching of husky John Hutchings and the end of a nine-game losing string pepped up the camp of the Cincinnati Reds today.

The six-foot, two-inch rookie hurler from Pensacola drew praise from Manager Bill McKechnie as he handcuffed the hard-hitting St. Louis Cardinals, with one run and three hits in four innings yesterday.

This bright light in the recent Redleg hurling fog enabled the champions to sail to their first victory, 8 to 2, since next to final game of the regular league schedules last fall.

The fact that the victims were the Cardinals, the winter book favorites for the 1940 National league flag, didn't make the breaking of the long victory drouth any less tasty. The Reds had dropped their final 1939 league game to Pittsburgh, went down four straight to the Yankees in the world series and then lost four grapefruit circuit tilts this spring.

Two of the safeties off the 235-pound Hutchings were of the scratch single variety. He allowed only two walks in pleasing contrast to previous Redleg mound performers this spring and fielded his position well.

"That kid showed me something today," asserted McKechnie. "He was downright cool out there in the second and third innings when the Cardinals threatened trouble. I believe he has the makings of quite a pitcher." Hutchings won 22 and lost 10 for Pensacola last year.

Mike McCormick, recruit in the outfield, continued his hard hitting with two blows in three times at bat, driving another spike in his campaign to become the Reds regular left fielder this year.

Jim Turner and Junior Thompson were slated to pitch part of the time for the Reds today in a tilt against the Cardinals.

BEATS AKRON AGAIN

OSHKOSH, Wis. — (AP) — The Oshkosh All-Stars took a two-game lead in the National Professional Basketball league championship playoffs last night by scoring a smashing 60 to 46 victory over the Akron (O.) Firestones.

Picks Up '7-10' Split In A.B.C.

DETROIT — (U.P.) — The luckiest shot made thus far in the American Bowling Congress—a 7-10 split bouncing the 10 pin off the backwall to hit the 7—was on record today as booster teams continued rolling.

The unusual shot was made by Jack O'Brien, left-handed bowler for Dr. Nader's Dentists team of Detroit. O'Brien averages about 145. Few such shots have been recorded in ABC competition.

Richard Weiss, Detroit automobile factory worker, took second place in the all-events with a 663 final series that gave him 1811 for the nine-game count. Herbert Trapp of Detroit bowled a 248 final game to reach 643 and fifth place in the singles division for the only other change in standings.

UPSETS FAVORITE

BELLEAIR, Fla. — (U.P.) — Miss Naomi Copic, Ohio women's public links champion from Toledo, upset favored Marion Miley, Lexington, Ky., 2 and 1, yesterday in the first round of the Belleair women's golf tournament.

Holdout Weakens

Pytlak Leaves for Cleveland to Discuss Salary With Indian Officials.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians' holdout troubles may be over by midnight.

Little Frankie Pytlak, the last official holdout, left his Buffalo, N. Y., home last night bound for Cleveland and a conference with Business Manager Frank Kohlbecker.

(Willis Hudlin, dean of the pitching staff, is still unsigned at his home in Hot Springs, Ark., but the club refuses to consider him a holdout.)

"I haven't heard from Pytlak," Kohlbecker said, "but I'll be glad to talk things over with him if he visits the office. I'll listen to what he has to say and then get in touch with Mr. Bradley (Alva Bradley, club president) in Florida and attempt to reach a compromise. If Pytlak is reasonable in his demands, I feel certain that he will be on his way to the training camp in a few days."

Pytlak returned his first contract and issued a statement charging the club with slashing his salary 35 per cent. Since then he has refused to communicate with tribal officials.

Bradley admitted his salary had been cut, but denied the decrease was 35 per cent.

Pytlak held out last year and finally signed for a reported $9,500. Rollie Hemsley was installed as the regular receiver and this, combined with Pytlak's frequent finger injuries, allowed the Buffalo lad to break into only 63 games.

Pytlak, who is 30, hit .268 in 1939 and Hemsley, 32, batted .263 in 107 games.

Feller to Make First Start on Mound Today.

FORT MYERS, Fla. —(U.P.)— Bob Feller lifted a spoon of ice cream with the right arm that has started him on the road to becoming the American league's greater pitcher.

"As long as nothing happens to this," he said, touching his throwing arm with his left hand, "I'll improve with the help of this." The left hand tapped his head. Thus spoke the 21-year-old terror to opposing batters as he awaited his first turn on the mound for 1940. He was scheduled to toil three innings in an intra-squad game today.

Ties Up Loose Ends Of Basketball Season

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Tying up some basketball loose ends!

Jim Richcreek, Ashland's all-Ohio conference guard of 1939, is quite a lad. The Nappanee, Ind., star, five feet eight and weighing 155, scored 269 points last year for the Ashland record, and then broke it this season with 285.

He belongs to practically everything on the campus, pitches on the baseball team, is a backfield [illegible] in football, and is president of the junior class. And now, to top it off, the co-eds of Ashland have named him "King of Leap Year."

Some basketball coaches like players from rural communities because of their stamina, while others want boys from big city teams because of the finesse they pick up from better teaching.

Wittenberg college, at Springfield, offers proof that it doesn't matter from where the boys come. Dave Albright of Akron, certainly a city-bred, and Cliff Heskett, of near the village of New Moorefield, which gets its mail through Enon, (Pop 390) of Clark county, are the stars of the Wittenberg team. Both were born May 1, 1919, giving them an even start.

Albright was voted the team's most valuable player today, while Heskett wound up the season with 307 points for 25 games, the all-time scoring record for a Lutheran.

The Belle Valley club down in Noble county is what you might call "strictly a tournament team." The Class B squad has won but one of 15 contests this year, but copped the Noble county championship for the 13th consecutive season with a winning splurge in the title tournament. The "13 in a row" is tops in Ohio so far as winning county crowns is concerned.

MIDDLETOWN, O. — (CP) — Though he is only 17 years old, Richard Davidson of Middletown has already scored four 200 or perfect games and once rolled 22 strikes in succession.

BOWLING SCORES

Bob Bride of Globe Steels Collected 269 Game in 600 Series.

OPENING with a flock of strikes for a 269 game, Bob Bride of the Globe Steels, Transportation league, was the only bowler to reach the 600 figure at the Meder alleys last night, and he hit that figure right on the nose.

Bride fell down after his big start, finishing with a 183 and 148, but he could not be denied the 600.

Margaret Baker missed the 600 bracket by the narrowest of margins in the Mixed Doubles league when she compiled a 587 total to lead the feminine scorers. She collected games of 179, 224 and 184. Hazel Hilborn and Florence Handwork came through with respective totals of 525 and 524. Bill Hipp's 592 led the men scorers.

* * *

Turner of the Tube Room paced the Mansfield Tire league scoring with a 587 total, which he closed with a 233. Haley of the Service store collected a 584.

SPORTS CHATTER

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK—(AP)—Jimmy Johnston, who accused Lee Savold of running out on Bob Pastor, would have been slugged by Pinkie George if bystanders hadn't interfered. . . . Talk out West is Tom Lieb may return to Loyola (Los Angeles) to pinch hit while they look for a football coach. By the way, one of the headlines out there read: "Is Clipper Smith Fickle, Diplomatic, Both or What?" . . . New York U. has basketball promoters here jittery because it's undecided whether to enter the Madison Square Garden or N. C. A. A. tournaments. . . . Bill Terry is around Miami shopping for a starting pitcher and third sacker.

* * * * *

There are 371 boys in the sophomore, junior and senior classes at Texas Christian. . . . Yesterday's count showed 114 of 'em working out with the six major athletic squads.

* * * * *

Al Sharp, one of the best golf writers in Dixie, has shifted from the Chattanooga Times to the Atlanta Constitution. . . . Maurice Tillet (The Angel) is getting more publicity than any wrestler in years. He is so ugly some of the papers front page his picture. . . . Officials of Dartmouth's annual track carnival are feeling low because Chuck Fenske and Gregory Rice haven't accepted invitations.

Red Blaik, Dartmouth coach: "I don't know who's going to beat Cornell this season. . . The Green Bay Packers or the Chicago Bears might do it, but they're not on the schedule. . . . I doubt if any college team can beat them."

RUSSO-FINNISH TRUCE FAILS TO UPSET MARKET

Fractional Gains Prominent as Traders Study New War Developments.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Traders and the stock market both recovered a bit today from the impact of the Russo-Finnish truce.

Fractional advances were widespread among shares, but transactions were in small volume. Gainers included many issues hardest hit in yesterday's late sell-off.

Scandinavian government bonds reflected the armistice by rapid rises, while corporate loans were uneven. Commodities worked lower. Foreign markets slipped sligtly.

After a night of thinking it over, many marketmen obviously considered the financial implications of the cessation of hostilities in Finland had been discounted in recent weeks.

Wall Street devoted much of its attention to the new developments in the European struggle, seeking to determine their probable influence on market trends.

One commentator asserted: "Most of the major groups of stocks have already returned to levels where a good deal of the 'war romance' has been squeezed out."

Other sources pointed out that the warring nations had made few, if any, increases in purchases from the United States. The basic war commodity —oil— has benefitted not at all, since petroleum exports actually declined, reaching their smallest volume in four years in January. The stocks of the companies concerned have reflected the situation. Instead of the war boom originally predicted, oils have mostly followed the general market.

OK'S RELIEF BOND

COLUMBUS—(INS—The board of tax appeals of the state taxation department today authorized the city of Cleveland to issue $2,138,000 worth of bonds in anticipation of the collection of delinquent taxes. Proceeds would be used for poor relief.

THEATERS

John Wayne and Thomas Mitchell, who were together in "Stagecoach" will be in the next Walter Wanger production, "The Long Voyage Home." In the first named picture they did outstanding work as the Ringo Kid and old Doc Boone, respectively. Wayne has been a conspicuous figure in Western films for a number of years, but the Wanger film will give him a new type of characterization. Both he and Mitchell will play men of the sea in this adaptation of Eugene O'Neill's series of dramatic one-act plays. Mitchell recently received an Academy award for the best supporting work by a male star last year.

Sells Freedom.

Traffic in paroles is the object of a scathing attack in "Parole Fixer" the picture which will be shown Wednesday and Thursday at the Madison theater along with the stage show, Hollywood Variety Revels. Whether true or not it is generally believed that many paroles are obtained only when friends or relativess of prisoners pay for them, and the story deals with a crooked attorney who "sells" paroles. Lyle Talbot, William Henry, Richard Denning and Virginia Dale play the major roles.

Sequel to Follow.

"Northwest Passage" like most popular novels made in film plays, is much more satisfactory to persons who did not read the book. But it is filled with action, the climax of which is the descent of Rogers Rangers on the Indian village, the burning of it and the extermination of the Indians. Because of time limits such interesting characters as Jennie and the little Indian boy are barely touched on in the film. It is quite probable that M-G-M will make the sequel with the same cast of characters—Spencer Tracy, Robert Young and Walter Brennan. The picture is at the Ohio.

Road to Romance.

When Lana Turner, one of the starlets of the current season, was given the lead in "Dancing Co-Ed" it was her first important role in her young career, but it also opened the road to her romance with marriage to Artie Shaw, dance and marriage to Artie Shaw, dance the film. They eloped several weeks ago. The second feature at the Ritz is the official fight pictures of the Joe Louis and Godoy heavyweight bout.

Trio of Stars.

Whatever became of the lovely Miliza Korjus who flashed like a meteor across the movie heavens in "The Great Waltz" and then disappeared? She was beautiful and could sing, but it was her one role in American made pictures. Luise Rainer, who also has dropped from sight after winning an Academy award one year, and Fernand Gravet, French star, headed the cast. The Majestic is also showing "Five Came Back," one of the dramatic films of the year.

"Mexican Spitfire."

Lupe Velez and Leon Errol contribute their respective laugh-making talents to "Mexican Spitfire" at the Park. Comedy and romance are intertwined with Donald Woods marrying a Mexican entertainer to the horror of his family. A second attraction is "Invisible Killer," in which a pretty girl reporter solves a mysterious murder to the confusion of her best beau, who is in the homicide squad.

to cause Greenlun to lose his position.

The action lists affidavits which Greenlun contends falsely accuse him of intoxication and solicitation of political campaign funds.

In connection with charges against Hardy, Greenlun says that Hardy received a letter from Medina Republican Chairman Aldrich in which Hardy was requested to "devise some means or method" of removing Greenlun from his job.

The letter was written on March 17, 1938, the suit says. Leona Rogers, another of the defendants, is secretary to Aldrich.

Greenlun's suit then relates a series of incidents in which he claims he was falsely accused of such charges as intoxication and solicitation of political campaign funds.

The suit says the accusations were false and that the defendants knew they were false and that the accusations were maliciously devised to cause his ouster from his position.

Named in the suit in addition to those already listed are: Charles Miller, Austin Moherman, Howard VanTilburg, Paul Parker, Austin L. Straub, George Dickerhoff and John Dalton.

J. L. Mason of Ashland is Greenlun's attorney.

Variety Revels Open 2-Day Stay at Madison Today

With a star-studded cast of personalities and entertainers, the Hollywood Variety Revels take over the stage of the Madison theater today for a two-day engagement.

Heading the stellar array are Donald Novis and Judy Starr. Novis will sing the songs for which he is famous on the airlanes, "Trees," "Lindy Lou," "Sylvia" and others.

Miss Starr, one of the smallest girls in the entertainment world and who has sung with Hal Kemp, Rudy Vallee, Kay Kyser and other name bands, is appearing with the "Mousie" Powell band in her current stage show. Powell was formerly with Milt Britton.

Others in the line-up of talent are the Andrini Brothers, two boys from South America who are artists in musiconga; Geraldine Ross, aerial acrobatic dancer; Meta Carlyle, dancer; and a number of others.

'What Price British Promises?' European Nations Ask

FINLAND HITS FAILURE TO DISPATCH AID

Writer Says Pledges to Send Troops No More Effective Than Promise to Poles.

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(INS Foreign Editor)

What price British promises?

This was the question being asked throughout the length and breadth of Europe today as gunfire ceased in Finland for the first time in three and one-half months of bloody warfare.

Finland makes no secret of the fact that she signed Josef Stalin's peace terms because no adequate military help was forthcoming from abroad. Five weeks ago Britain and France promised to send 50,000 men if Finland wanted them. But five weeks ago Finland was on her last legs.

In other words, this pledge of Allied aid to Finland was no more effective than that given to Poland. Geographical and strategic factors, plus the harsh realities of their own defense requirements, probably rendered these projected Allied undertakings useless from the outset.

But the small nations of Europe know that there are now two instances in recent history wherein Britain made promises which were not or could not be fulfilled, and British diplomacy has suffered.

Therefore of greatest moment today was the reaction in the Balkan states to that dictated peace signed early this morning in the Kremlin and the smug but possibly entirely true remark made in official Rome that such a thing could not have happened in Italy's Mediterranean sphere of influence.

Praises Finland.

The semi-official Hungarian newspaper Pester Lloyd probably was speaking for all the Balkans when it characterized the Russo-Finnish peace as a blow to British diplomacy and commended Finland for her discretion in refusing to become Europe's general battlefield.

Before the Munich pact of 1938, it was generally assumed by military experts and international observers that if Germany was to be stopped, she would have to be stopped in central Europe. Yet despite all the agitation in England and France against Hitler's expansionism, no one could suggest a feasible plan whereby the British army, navy or air force could save Czechslovakia from absorption by military means.

Then came Poland. England and France signed a treaty of mutual assistance with Poland, promising to come to her aid instantly and—to use a now familiar phrase—"with all the means at their disposal."

Yet it was virtually a physical impossibility for France and England to fight for Poland, and that was known from the outset. Except for sending an airplane fleet, and it is now a standing joke in Europe that although Germany invaded Poland on Sept. 1, 1939, the first British planes reached Warsaw last week.

They were on a pamphlet-dropping, reconnaissance flight.

ICE PARALYZES CITY TRAFFIC

Rain Freezes, Leaves Glassy Coating on Streets, Walks; One School Closed.

30 minutes late and drivers of others reported they were unable to negotiate their regular routes at all.

A company truck was used to scatter salt over routes in the western part of the city and in Woodland.

Transit officials reported that practically all buses were back on schedule at 10 a. m.

Hurt as Car Overturns.

Homer W. Shaffer, 527 West Fourth street, received severe cuts about the face and a back injury which were treated at General hospital after the car which he was driving turned over several times on Route 30-N, six miles west of here at 7 a. m. Shaffer was alone in the car and said his machine was crowded off the road by a truck. It required four stitches to close a cut in his mouth.

Carl Vogel, 546 Wood street, was treated at the hospital for lacerations of the head after an accident at 2:30 a. m. on Route 42, four miles northeast of here. Vogel said he ran into the back end of a truck driven by Walter Cooper, Springfield, which he failed to see because the windshield of his car was coated with ice. Vogel's car was wrecked. Both Vogel and Shaffer were dismissed after receiving treatment at the hospital.

Paul R. Sarbry, 818 Park avenue west, escaped injury although his auto "folded like an accordion," according to state patrolmen, when it was caught between two trucks on top of the Ashland hill at 11:30 p. m. yesterday. A row of trucks had parked on top of the hill because of the ice. Sarby pulled in behind the trucks and another truck behind him, unable to stop, crashed into his car, driving it against a truck in front.

A head-on collision between two trucks on the Wooster road, three miles east of here, occurred at 2:30 a. m. today and blocked the road until almost noon, patrolmen reported. One truck, heavily loaded with steel, was crosswise on the road and had to be unloaded before it could be moved.

In Mansfield drivers of automobiles negotiated the streets only with the utmost difficulty.

Temperature dropped to 27 degrees during the night and was at 34 degrees at noon today. Rain is predicted for tonight, changing to snow Thursday, with lowered temperature again tomorrow.

At Upper Sandusky, scores of motorists were marooned over night by the sleet storm which made highway travel hazardous. F. L. Ulrich, 28, suffered a fractured skull in an auto accident north of the city. At the order of the state highway department, no school buses ventured out on the roads today.

CHECK ON BLAST

Officials Seek to Find Cause of Hospital Explosion.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Firemen, building inspectors and gas company technicians today sought to determine the case of a gas explosion that tore out a foot-thick basement wall and injured 10 persons, two seriously, in the laboratory of the Booth Memorial hospital.

Capt. Isabelle McVean, 32, of the Salvation Army, suffered severe shock and possible internal injuries, and Helen Laackiewicz, 19, a patient, suffered a possible skull fracture.

The others injured included five patients and three hospital employes.

Officials of the hospital, a maternity institution operated by the Salvation Army, said none of the 43 babies, their mothers or 15 expectant mothers suffered from the explosion, which did not extend above the first floor.

TRAGIC TRIP

Bridegroom Killed In Car-Train Crash, Bride Hurt.

XENIA—(AP)—A wedding trip ended in tragedy yesterday for Mr. and Mrs. Sam Trunzo of Cleveland. Several hours after their marriage in Covington, Ky., Trunzo, 36, was killed in an automobile-train collision at nearby Selma.

His bride, the former Marian Grace Hagerman of Cleveland, was taken to a Springfield hospital with head injuries.

FINAL PLAY

Community Players Present 'Petrified Forest' Tonight.

The new auditorium at the John Simpson High school building will be used for the first time tonight although it will not be "officially" presented to the public until Friday night.

The Mansfield Community Players will give their final presentation of the season there tonight when the curtain goes up at 8:15 on "The Petrified Forest."

Changing of the date caused considerable confusion and last night a number of persons showed up at the John Simpson auditorium and presented their tickets for the show, despite the fact that it was only the dress rehearsal.

The play has 22 roles, the largest number since "First Lady" according to Mrs. E. K. Bacon, director.

Date of the play has been set three different times, a confusion of dates for other events causing two changes.

BECOMES CHIEF

Lima Officer Named to Police Post Permanently.

LIMA—(INS)—Detective James C. Goodwin, who has been acting Lima police chief since Dec. 1, today was named to the post permanently by Mayor Frank McClain. Goodwin was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ward Taylor.

Mayor McClain said Goodwin proved himself worthy of the appointment during the three-month trial period. He has been a member of the Lima force for nine years.

65 TO TESTIFY BEFORE JURORS

Witnesses Called as Panel Convenes to Hear 18 Criminal Cases.

Sixty-five witnesses were called to testify as the Richland county grand jury re-convened to investigate 18 or more criminal cases.

Common pleas court attaches predicted that the jury will complete its work by late tomorrow afternoon.

Heading the list of cases is that of George Beck, 25, accused of molesting a number of children who was held to the grand jury from municipal court on charges of kidnaping and child-stealing.

The arrest of four persons in connection with the theft of $800 worth of tin from the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company provided more work for the jury than was first anticipated.

Sheriff E. P. Long in whose custody today the men are already lodged, said their case will be taken directly to the grand jury without preliminary arraignment. The sheriff said other charges against the group also are to be investigated by the jury.

Several burglary cases, grand larceny charges, and check forgeries are to be reviewed during the session. Secret indictments are to be requested in at least two cases.

NOW UNCLE BUD CAN USE CASKET

Eccentric Kentucky Character Built Own Limestone Bier.

HAZARD, Ky. — (U.P.) — Plans were being made today to bury Isaac "Uncle Bud" Eversole; 55, in the same limestone casket in which he once spent three nights buried six feet underground.

Known throughout the Kentucky mountain region as an eccentric character of extreme piety who had the ability to quote extensive Biblical verses, Eversole died near here yesterday of a heart attack. The casket was cut from a solid piece of stone.

FIGHTING ENDS, RUSSIANS WIN HARSH DEMANDS

Finland Gives Up Vital Areas, But Keeps Independence After Bitter War.

harsh from the Finnish viewpoint.

Under the treaty, Finland would yield to Russia:

The entire Karelian isthmus, including the bitterly-contested Mannerheim defense line, strewn with Russian and Finnish corpses;

The wrecked but uncaptured city of Viipuri, along with Viipuri bay and its islands;

All the shores of Lake Ladoga and some territory northeast of the lake. (Where the Finns have reported the slaying of thousands of Russian troops;)

A 30-year Russian lease on the peninsula of Hanko, Finnish "gibraltar" at the mouth of the Gulf of Finland, which Russia intends to convert into a military and naval base;

Various islands in the Gulf of Finland;

A broad swath of eastern Finland in the region of the Arctic circle;

Part of the Sredni and Rybachi peninsulas on the Arctic ocean;

A railroad to be built this year to link Russia's White sea ports with the Gulf of Bothnia;

Operation of a Rusian airline across the Petsamo district between Russia and Norway and no restriction on pasage of Russian citizens or commerce across this area;

A promise that no Finnish warplanes, warships or submarines, except for small coast guard boats, will operate in the Arctic ocean.

What Finns Get.

In return, the Finns get peace and a yearly rental of 8,000,000 Finnish markka (about $120,000) for Hanko.

They must negotiate a trade treaty and make a non-aggresion alliance with Russia. (Russia denounced the previous non-aggression pact just before invading Finland Nov. 30.)

Russia's original demands, which the Finns had refused, were much less severe. They offered Finland part of Soviet Karelia on Finland's long eastern border in return for a small strip of the Karelian isthmus northwest of Leningrad; a lease on Hanko; part of the Srendi and Rybachi peninsulas: and exchange of some islands in the Gulf of Finland.

Expects Political Change In Finland.

COPENHAGEN — (AP) — Scandinavian political quarters expressed the belief that drastic political changes were inevitable in Finland following conclusion of peace with Russia and that formation of a temporary military government was likely, possibly headed by Field Marshal Baron Gustaf Carl Mannerheim, Finland's war leader.

It was reported here that two Finnish cabinet ministers already had resigned.

Finland, it was said, is now facing a troubled period of readjustment and rehabilitation in which military rule would appear necessary.

Predict Turkey Will Quit Allies.

BERLIN —(INS)— A prediction that Turkey and other small nations of the so-called Anglo-French bloc may alter their attitudes as a result of the Russo-Finnish peace was voiced in Germany today.

While the German press and officialdom hailed announcement of the agreement as a "spectacular defeat" for allied diplomacy representing collapse of Anglo-French plans to spread the war to Scandinavia, Field Marshal Herman Wilhelm Goering's Essener National Zeitung sounded the keynote as follows:

"Plans of the western powers to squeeze Germany in a strategic pincer by extending the war into neutral nations to our north and southeast has now definitely failed.

"With the exception of England and France there is not power in the Balkans today which desires conflict.

"There remains only the Anglo-Turkish agreement—so far uncancelled—which, as the Russo-Finnish war has proved, Turkey apparently entered under false presumptions.

"Now that Russia has shown her readiness for peace Turkey will be watched with interest.

"Europe will see whether she finds her way back to her traditional natural friendship with Russia.

'PLUS INTEREST'

$200 Check Pays 18-Year-Old Debt—and Then Some.

BLOOMVILLE, N. Y.—(AP)—E. W. Simmons, machinery dealer, picked up a letter—with a $200 check attached—and read:

"This should pay my debt to you."

When Simmons checked his ledgers, he found that the writer had left town in 1922 owing him $114. The check took care of that, the letter said, "plus interest."

Delays Ruling on Sanity, Proceeds With Murder Case

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Judge Samuel E. Kramer today withheld a ruling on the sanity of John Lewis McCormick, University of Pittsburgh honor student, and ordered his trial on first degree murder charges to proceed.

County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan had demanded that the court determine the 21-year-old youth's sanity immediately. But Judge Kramer overruled his motion to arrest the trial pending that decision.

McCormick has pleaded "not guilty by reason of insanity," but chief defense counsel James C. Connell contended that the only point at issue was the question of his sanity when Theodore Nichols, 40, an American district telegraph guard, was shot to death during the holdup of a Western Union office here.

FINNISH LEADER PLACES BLAME ON DEMOCRACIES

Says Nation Could Not Depend on Promises of Others, Received No Help.

to face an enemy of superior numbers."

He highly praised the conduct of Finland's stubborn defenders, saying their feats were "astonishing and beyond expectations," but reinforcements were lacking.

The public—which reacted to the peace with numb bewilderment—also was lauded by Tanner.

"The home front acted beautifully and the people's morale was praiseworthy," he said, under almost daily bombing attacks and other hardships of war.

The response of this public to the peace was uncertain as yet, but foreign observers took it for granted that a change in the government was imminent.

Defensively, Tanner asserted:

"The surrender is not our fault—it is the fault of our being forsaken by our fellow democracies."

Despite loss through the treaty of all the Karelian Isthmus, Viipuri, all the shores of Lake Ladoga, the strategic peninsula of Hanko on which Russia will put a naval base, and great chunks of land in the Arctic, Tanner said it was wisest to make peace while Finland's defense remained "unbroken."

"What kind of peace?" Tanner asked. "A severely wounded nation is surrendering important industrial and agricultural territories."

This, said the foreign minister, creates new responsibilities and makes a new building program necessary. He called for a united nation to carry out the re-consolidation.

"We have risen from ruin before," he declared. "We have plenty of land left.

"The united front is needed just as surely during peace as war.

"There is the foundation for a new dawn for our nation in the future."

(Reuters, British News Agency, quoted a dispatch from Helsinki to the French News Agency, Havas, as saying that "in some Finnish circles there are fears that today may not see ratification of the treaty but a coup overthrowing the government."

(The Havis dispatch said War Minister Juho Niukkanen and Education Minister K. Hannula had resigned.)

Parliament was in session last night and there were unverified reports that it already was debating the terms for peace but a foreign office statement that the signing of a treaty had not yet been confirmed seemed to rule out such a possibility.

According to Moscow reports, the agreement provides for ratification within three days and an exchange of ratifications within 10 which would mean that the Finnish lawmakers must decide before Friday night.

(A Columbia broadcasting system correspondent at Helsinki telephoned New York that parliament would meet at noon (5 a. m., EST.)

All signs pointed to a thorough examination of the treaty by parliament. Eighty-five of the 200 seats are held by the Social Democratic party headed by Tanner, a principal target of attack in Russian propaganda.

Tanner has headed the foreign affairs ministry in the coalition government formed after the start of the war and his party has the largest parliamentary representation.

Stockholm Incensed By Peace Terms.

STOCKHOLM —(INS)— Shocked by terms of the Soviet-Finnish peace, the Swedish press today branded the Moscow treaty "a peace of violence" and called upon the government to increase Sweden's armed forces.

The newspaper Social Demokraten, organ of the majority party in the Swedish government, drew from the peace terms the conclusion that "it must awaken the last pacifist" among the Swedes.

P.T.A. Speaker

REV. NEIL CRAWFORD

ICY ROADS HIT P. T. A. PARLEY

the meeting. These were Marion, Lorain, Crawford, Ashland and Richland.

Mrs. C. Tracy LaCost of Toledo, president of the Ohio Congres of Parents and Teachers, Inc., was the key speaker this morning, discussing "Developing Intelligent Citizenship."

Parents, she said, should be interested in the legislative program of the state and federal governments which affect children because today all children are largely affected by legislation.

In developing intelligent citizenship in children while still in school, there are eight important factors, she said. She listed them as:

1. Respect for the rules at school is a forerunner of respect for civil law.

2. A child's conception of the law is influenced by the persons who represent it.

3. Parents, whether they are aware of it or not, exemplify good or bad citizenship for their children and the child is quick to imitate.

4. Parents relationship with their neighbors and friends influences a child's ideas of individual rights vs. community right.

5. A child does not respect a law which it doesn't understand or thinks unfair so that laws and rules should be explained to children until obeying them seems the right thing.

6. Activities at school make for better citizenship.

7. Interesting children in citizenship and its responsibilities helps to prevent juvenile delinquency.

8. Application of thrift through wise spending.

Mrs. LaCost urged parents to interest themselves in the conditions of their city or town, because these conditions directly affect all classes of children.

The state leader was introduced by Mrs. I. W. Basinger, Mansfield, director of the north-central district. Greetings to the assembly were brought by Mrs. Milo Hieber, president of the Mansfield Council of P. T. A.; W. L. Miller, superintendent of Mansfield public schools, and Boyd Robinson, superintendent of county schools.

Mrs. H. B. Goyert, state membership chairman, told of how the P. T. A. membership has increased over the state in the past 12 months. The largest percentage of gain is credited to the Grant school of Ashland which increased its membership 290 per cent. The membership for the northcentral district for last year was 8,799 and this year is 11,352, she said.

Mrs. W. H. McPherson, Oberlin, a representative of the Ohio League of Women Voters, outlined her organization's plan for a state Department of Welfare which would correlate all agencies covering public welfare, relief and children's aid.

There were 150 registrations for the luncheon this noon and 275 for the banquet, both of which will be held at the Johnny Appleseed cafeteria. This afternoon's session will be given over largely to panel discussions and department conferences.

The principal speaker of tonight's session will be Rev. Neil Crawford of Athens. Music for the final session will be provided by the Mansfield Mothersingers.

CAPITAL KEEPS SILENT ON END OF FINNISH WAR

Spokesman, However, Tells of Warning Finns That No Outside Aid Would Arrive.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—A deep official silence obviously tinged with the conviction that Franco-British prestige has received a damaging blow greeted word of the Russo-Finnish peace in Washington today.

Leaders in all official quarters—the White House, state department, congress and the diplomatic corps—declined public comment, but more than one admitted to the belief that the peace was "bad news" for the Allies.

All, of course, expressed joy over termination of a bloody conflict, but, as one of the administration's key foreign policy spokesmen in congress—he forbade use of his name—put it:

"I warned Finnish representatives last November, even before the hostilities began, that they must expect a conclusion to any war with Russia similar to the one that is at hand.

"I told them at the time that peace could better be made then than later, and warned them they would receive little outside help.

"I told them that the only United States aid they could hope for would be a non-military loan. Such a loan recently was authorized, more than three months after the war started."

U. S. Took No Part.

The only state department comment was reiteration that U. S. diplomatic representatives abroad had had no part in negotiation of the Russo-Finnish peace.

Privately, several state department officials asserted that Germany doubtless would make a potent argument of the peace terms, and Finland's losses therein, to convince Europe's neutrals of the faithlessness of the Allies, stressing the help that the Finns expected, but never got, from Britain and France.

All Washington observers were impressed by the severity of the peace terms, as compared to the demands made on Finland before the war as the price the little Baltic republic must pay to escape invasion.

On Capitol Hill, where much comment was expected when the house and senate met, one senator well acquainted with international currents said a peace move aimed at termination of the German-Allied war could be expected in about a month. It will be engineered, he said, by the Pope.

HARTMAN NAMED TO HEAD NEW TRAFFIC PROBLEM COMMITTEE

Lewis F. Hartman, vice president and secretary of the Hartman Electrical company, was named today to head Mayor W. J. Locke's city wide organization to study Mansfield's traffic problem and work out some solution for it.

Solving this problem was one of the planks in Locke's campaign platform, and he said today that he has given it more time and thought than any one problem he has tackled since he took over the duties of his office.

He said that Hartman would organize his own city-wide group to study the situation, and that it would be made up of representatives from industrial plants, business concerns, the Chamber of Commerce, civic clubs as well as other community organizations.

It is probable, he said, that a headquarters office will be set up in the city building. The first step will be a comprehensive survey and study, not only of the town itself, but of maps and reports from traffic officers.

LEWIS F. HARTMAN

After the study is completed, Locke said, his city-wide group would co-operate with the new traffic committe of city council, which was appointed this year, and of which Philip Smith is chairman.

DESCRIBES NEW TYPE OF U. S. PRISON MINUS WALLS, FENCES

Dr. Mary B. Harris, superintendent of the Federal Industrial Institution at Alderson, W. Va., brought a story of a new kind of penal institution to an audience of American Association of University women and their guests last night at the high school auditorium. She said the Alderson reformatory was a "rehabilitation institution."

Alderson is a prison without walls or fences, from which inmates could easily walk away, since there are few guards. But the percentage of escapes at Alderson is no greater than in any other type of prison, Dr. Harris said.

She pointed out that the federal prisons at both Alderson and Chillicothe, O., had been brought about by the agitation of women's clubs. Before 1927 there were but three such federal institutions, but now there are 13, with four more under construction.

In telling of the life at Alderson she contrasted it with ordinary prisons where the inmate has nothing to do and quoted one of her own wards who said her favorite recreation in another institution was "just sittin' and watchin' the passin.' "

"No greater waste of money or human material exists than in a prison where there is nothing for the person to do," Dr. Harris said.

Forty-six per cent of the inmates at Alderson are violators of the Harrison Narcotic act, and for that reason the biggest problem at the institution is the drug habit, she said. Upon induction into the institution drugs are taken away from the inmate, and after about two weeks she is able to enter a restricted but normal life.

The institution combines work with education, and handicraft.

"Discipinary problems are infrequent and rarely severe, usually being dealt with by the warden of the cottage in which the miscreant lives," she added. "Kindness is the rule, and placing a violator in the 'seclusion rooms' is the heaviest punishment because days spent in seclusion add to the length of a sentence."

In her experience since 1927 Dr. Harris has had only 2.7 per cent parole cases returned as violators, and a little less than 7 per cent of the conditionally released group as violators. In this time only 31 women have left the grounds, yet from 500 and 600 women are at the institution all the time, she asserted.

Describing the life at the institution she told that there was no wall and all but two of the buildings are unbarred. A "social" life including music, studies, dancing, movies, and recreation is maintained daily with religious services on Sunday.

Dr. Harris pointed out that treatment at Alderson was an entirely personal problem, with the study of the individual as the most important factor. At her entrance and then at three-month intervals, every girl and woman is given a physical examination, a test by the residing psychiatrist, and a chance to fit herself into any work, recreational and study groups she chooses.

Dr. Harris was introduced by Mrs. Merritt Giles, president of the Mansfield branch of A.A.U.W.

for assistance in materials and men and is it not a pity in relation to the magnitude of these events and their far-reaching character to plead as an excuse for inaction a pure technicality?"

Chamberlain retorted: "It is not correct to say that repeated requests for men had been made by the Finnish government."

Chamberlain said "it always has been understood that it was for the Finnish government to decide the course of action they considered to be to their interests in the light of all available knowledge."

Chamberlain said in describing last night's Moscow peace in the Russian Finnish war:

"As I informed the house on Monday we had made preparations to throw the full weight of all available resources into the scales on hearing that this was in accordance with the desires of the Finnish government."

BRICKER FILES PETITIONS FOR G. O. P. PRIMARY

Pledges Continuance of Rule Which 'Saved Millions' in Ohio's Government.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Gov. John W. Bricker asked Ohio voters for a second term today, declaring his administration had kept a promise to reduce expenses and avoid new taxes. He filed nominating petitions for the Republican primary bearing 153,000 signatures from all 88 counties.

After listing millions of dollars in savings and asserting that "the political fixers, chiselers and racketeers" had been driven out of the state government, Governor Bricker said "the state's business is now conducted in the open."

"It is my belief," he added, "that the people of Ohio want that kind of government continued. In declaring my candidacy I pledge to the people of Ohio a continuance of that kind of an administration."

Bricker said the accomplishments of his administration included:

Payment of $2,290,000 on a "general revenue deficit which was inherited from 1938",

A $12,500,000 increase in contributions to poor relief, old age pensions, schools and other welfare activities;

Payment of $3,000,000 on the school foundation program debt;

Reorganization of the department of taxation with a saving of $450,000;

Removal of thousands of "political parasites" from the state pay rolls with a saving of $5,147,000 in salaries and office maintenance;

A saving of $2,000,000 by eliminating "the political middle men" and making state purchases on "an honest, competitive basis"; and

A saving of $1,500,000 in the highway department by eliminating "so-called legal graft" and letting contracts on "an honest bidding basis."

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 13, 1940.

And on a morning of this sort the righteous also walked in slippery places.

Some of the short-time sojourners in Florida are back home with the impression that they like weather just as well as climate.

Congress is objecting to appropriating any more money for the Byrd expedition—as it can't be given the appearance of a project.

Russia Dictates Peace Terms

ACCEPTANCE by Finland of Russian peace terms may have been the only way to avoid complete annihilation of that brave little country and the slaughter of practically all of its people.

The concessions made by Finland to its giant adversary came only after all hope of effective military aid from other so-called democracies had been abandoned and the futility of further resistance was recognized.

Defeat of Finnish military forces by Red army invaders is another example of enforced acceptance of the principle of might over right, as was evidenced in Nazi Germany's dismemberment of Czechoslovakia and the wiping out of Poland.

It is too soon to reach conclusions as to the probable full effect of the Russian-Finnish peace treaty on the other Scandinavian countries, or on Europe and the world in general, but it is not too soon to recognize the potential danger of further aggressive moves by Stalin and Hitler against other small independent nations in Europe, as these dictators move toward the world domination to which they aspire.

Whether Communist Russia and Nazi Germany will eventually clash is of small moment in the present situation as the present Hitler-Stalin pact appears to preclude any immediate difficulties and places Germany in position to get help from Russia in the way of supplies needed to carry on its war against Great Britain and France.

Just as in the cases of Czechoslovakia and Poland, the fate of Finland, under the terms of this peace treaty, cannot be safely regarded as final—else there will be an end to all guarantees of the independence of small nations in Europe and elsewhere in the world.

Developments of the next few days, weeks and months will be even more critical than those which preceded today's armistice in Finland.

Improving Ability to Speak

WHILE the field of professional public speakers may seem to be quite well filled there is constant need for development of greater ability by more people to "think on their feet" and to overcome the diffidence which prevents their participation in activities of groups with which they are associated.

There are several professions, such as the law and ministry, in which public speaking is taken for granted, as it is also in certain lines of salesmanship, but it is not so generally realized that in every line of work some ability as a speaker would be a considerable advantage.

With dozens of club groups in Mansfield, many of which have weekly, bi-weekly or monthly meetings that require a speaker as a part of the program, recent availability of a number of Mansfield attorneys for talks on legal or community subjects has provided an appreciated service, under sponsorship of the American Bar association, with Marshall C. Moore as local director.

Schools and colleges, in recent years, have been giving increasing emphasis to public speaking as a part of student training, and few older persons escape occasional realization of the benefit such a course would have been to them.

Many people have an idea that public speaking "comes naturally" to some folks and that ability along this line cannot be acquired by others. Although there may be "born orators," the real requirement is not for "oratory" but for the ability to speak clearly, preferably briefly, in an interesting and informative way, on some subject selected or assigned for a particular occasion.

A number of service clubs, study groups, and other civic, fraternal, church or occupational organizations, have requirements for participation by individual members which tend to encourage development of ability in public speaking.

Courses along this line which have heretofore been available in Mansfield have been found valuable by a number of persons who took advantage of the opportunity and it is interesting to note that another series of classes for adult instruction in effective speech is being planned for the present spring season.

Seeking Safety in America

THE voyage of the great liner Queen Elizabeth to America, to join two other queens of the ocean already here, is a symbol of what is happening on a huge scale.

There has been a great flight of money to America, starting long before the formal beginning of this war. Much of the money now choking American banks consists of European funds in cold storage, for protection and for use in a time of greater need.

There is also a vast flight of people, in so far as that is possible to accomplish. American doors are opened to only a few Europeans at a time, so that the full pressure behind the influx is hardly appreciated. But the applications for admission, especially from central European regions, are already so numerous that it would take a decade or two to let them in at the current rate of acceptance. If Uncle Sam were to hang out a "Welcome" sign in the old pre-war way, there would be millions pouring in.

The most acceptable part of this movement has been the influx of foreign scholars, scientists, philosophers, authors and eminent professional people. These enrich American life and go far toward making up for the disadvantages of other war effects.

Oriental Complications

A SPOKESMAN for the Japanese foreign office criticises the United States loan of $20,000,000 to China, calling it "an unfriendly act which is highly undesirable."

Suppose the Japanese take a little look at the matter from another angle. Say from the Chinese viewpoint. The Chinese think our continued selling of war materials to Japan, for use against China, is an unfriendly act which is highly undesirable.

Most Americans probably agree with the Chinese on this point. And both Chinese and Americans consider it highly undesirable for Japan to prolong the China incident.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — The slogan that helped Sammy Kaye become famous as an orchestra leader is a simple little lilting phrase that is easy to say and just as easy to remember. It is "Swing and Sway With Sammy Kaye" and it is bawled out to the air waves a dozen times a week by announcers who work his programs.

We have admired Mr. Kaye for a long time, principally because you can listen to his music without ear-plugs, and also because we admire anyone who starts at the bottom and keeps on swimming till their head breaks water.

The other morning, however, a young man named Hal Desfor who is affiliated with one of the advertising agencies on Broadway got on a Remsen Ave. bus in Brooklyn and practically broke into song at something he saw scratched on one of the bus windows. Perhaps we should add that Mr. Kaye is a client of Mr. Desfor's agency, and the thing that delighted him so was the familiar beginning of the old phrase "Swing and Sway." There was something else written under it, and to get close enough to read it Desfor practically had to climb into a lady's lap. But he made it, and the line he saw was a slight variation from the original lyric. "Swing and Sway with Malky Kay," someone had improvised.

This was puzzling for a few moments, until Desfor noted how rhythmically the bus began to sway from side to side. Then he found the answer. Malky Kay was the name of the bus driver.

ANOTHER young man we admire a heap is Bob MacGimsey (pronounced "Jimsy" as in jimson weed), a small town boy from Louisiana who probably knows more about Negro spirituals than anybody in the country. Maybe it will help you identify him to mention that he is the composer of "Shadrack." He is just back from the Georgia coast where, at the invitation of Mrs. Maxfield Parrish, wife of the painter, he collected and recorded dozens of native Negro songs sung there in dialect since Georgia's beginnings.

MacGimsey goes soon on a series of tours for NBC. They'll take him to all sections of the country to lecture, whistle, sing, and talk about Negro music, the real spirituals that flourish in the back countries and are sung in African dialect by rural Negroes.

MEANWHILE MacGimsey has gone back to the Bible, as he did with "Shadrack," for a new song, "Tower of Babel" (pronounced bay-bel), and he has given us permission to quote a part of the lyrics.

It's about life "Way back yonder in the Bible times, the people got tired of the daily grind; they lost good religion out of their mind, trying to find a short road to Heaven."

So they build a tower, as you know, and climb up, and everybody begins jabbering, until: "The tongues got twisted when they tried to talk; the legs start to quivver when they went to walk; and the Lawd changed the speech of brother from brother, till one talk one way, and one talk another."

That gives you an idea. It's being published by Robbins. Meanwhile Mr. MacGimsey takes his ease in West 55th street, where he drips good coffee for anyone who can prove that they know good coffee when they taste it.

Unused Capacity 'Rented' for Gold

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — So seldom does one hear a real argument in favor of the government's gold-buying policy, so roundly denounced by Senator John G. Townsend, jr., of Delaware, and others, that in fairness one ought to consider the views of Dr. E. A. Goldenweiser, economist for many years, under Coolidge and Hoover, as well as under Roosevelt, to the Federal Reserve Board.

What we are really doing in these gold purchases, Dr. Goldenweiser insists, is "renting" to foreigners, for gold, a part of our unused capacity.

Dr. Goldenweiser says he hears a good deal about the high cost of gold we are getting. Cost to whom? he asks. No cost to the government is involved, as payment is made in gold certificates. Gold does not cost money. Gold is money, says the doctor. While it is not put into circulation, it gets into circulation in the form of bank deposits.

No cost is involved to the person who sells goods to foreigners. He gets exactly the same kind of money he gets for goods he sells domestically.

WERE the United States working at full capacity and if it had enough domestic buying power to absorb everything that could be produced, then there would be ground for claiming loss, Dr. Goldenweiser says. The country is not working at anything like capacity. Goods sold abroad probably would not have been produced or, if produced, would have been added to surpluses depressing the domestic market if there had been no market outside of the country, he points out. That is the reasoning which leads Dr. Goldenweiser to the conclusion that all the United States is doing is renting its unused capacity to foreigners.

Actually, of course, this argument is not addressed to the two chief criticisms which have been made against the U. S. gold-buying policy—one all the time, and the second since the invasion of Finland by Russia.

The argument which has been made all the time is that there is no way of telling what will be the eventual world price of gold. The horrid spectre is held up of the rest of the world deciding, some day in the future, that gold is not money any more. Whereupon, says these critics, the U. S. treasury—which means the taxpayers of this country — would sustain a terrific loss.

THE argument of Dr. Goldenweiser skirts the edges of this theory, particularly if applied to an argument frequently made about the war debts. It is sometimes contended that what the United States lent the other countries was not not money but goods—that if we had not let them have these goods, on credit, we would not have produced the goods, or else such production would have resulted in surpluses in this country which would have destroyed our own economy. Then, it is contended, we refused, by our tariff policy, to let Europe pay us back in goods, so that it became impossible for Europe to pay us at all.

But the objection to buying foreign gold, based on anger at Russia for invading Finland, has nothing whatever to do with this. There is no question that the purchase by this government of all gold offered, at a high price, provides Russia with exchange needed for war supplies and it, to that extent, financing the invasion of Finland.

There are experts who contend that this country could continue buying British Empire gold, but refuse to buy any gold from Russia, or from any country to which Russia sold gold.

Listen, World!

Making a Monkey of America.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

I HAVE been watching with increasing disgust a certain development in our times.

I refer to the practice of turning the President of the United States into a vaudeville show by cartoons and wise cracks.

Now, get me right. I am not discussing any particular president, Democratic or Republican. I don't care a hoot who sits in the White House. Whatever the people of America want there's jake with me. You can choose an Albino idiot if you want, fellow citizens, and as long as you want it, that's swell.

BUT FOR PETE'S SAKE, HAVING DONE SO, RESPECT YOUR CHOICE!

The man we choose as an individual ceases to be an individual when we put him there. He becomes the symbol of our judgment as a nation: the symbol of our individual faith and pride and determination. He may be a limited man—a foolish man—an unworthy man—for we have had all such men in the White House. Or he may be a truly great man. But whatever kind of man he is, he is the man we have chosen and he represents all that is serious and dignified in our American spirit.

So what? So, then, in this year 1940, we get smart. And we make caricatures of what we have chosen, and we write silly verses about him and we think we're smart.

But what happens?

Do we make ourselves smart?

No. We make dopes of ourselves. We double cross ourselves. We belittle our own choice. We make monkeys of ourselves before the eyes of the world. We invite them to say that we are half-baked jitterers who tire of the thing they choose within five minutes.

No wonder they don't pay their debts to us. No wonder they regard us as half-baked infants who needn't be taken seriously. We asked for it. And we got it.

Any intelligent citizen of America has a right to seriously discuss the government and criticize it. That is adult functioning. That is a prerogative of free men. But the kind of capering we are doing now is unworthy of a wet-nosed brat.

I haven't the slightest idea that this will do any good. America having gone infantile. Once we were real men and real women and used our shooting irons with discrimination. Now we write naughty words on back fences and think how smart we are, or throw spitballs. I can't cure that. But I've certainly gotten an awful boot getting this off my chest.

What this nation needs is fewer smarty-pants and the return of a few Americans who know what this country meant and cost.

Nicer Graves.

It will doubtless cheer up thousands of German and French soldiers who may be about to die, to hear, as they did a few days ago, that the fallen are henceforth to be provided with nicer graves.

German dead will not longer be buried in mass graves, but will have individual graves situated so each type of soldier has his own cemetery with his kameraden in "pleasant country surroundings, far from busy traffic."

The French fallen will be given graves in perpetuity in various French national cemeteries—a big concession in a land where grave leases often extend for only a limited number of years, the bones to be removed after expiration of the lease.

Does this put a different aspect on the European massacre? The boys are to have nice, quiet graves [illegible]

Boy, Dog and Dragon

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

HE IS FOUR and his imagination is enormous. It crops out in his vocabulary which bristles with self-coined words. To fasten his overshoes is to "hookle" them; the best part of a breakfast egg is its "knob" (yolk); his favorite noisemaker, just now, is an "oompah" which he invented by blowing through a length of curved iron pipe. Sounds like a fog horn.

One day last spring he came to our hired man with the comic sheet and pointed to a picture of a dragon. It was a fearsome creature with scales, glaring eyes and wide open mouth—in lurid colors. "What is that?" he asked.

The hired man had a sense of humor. "Why—that's a boy-catcher," he confided.

"Would it eat me?"

"Surest thing you know! Never let a thing like that get hold of you, kid!"

"No-o, I won't."

Last week a stray dog came to our place. She was a spotted mongrel hound and when we did not feed her, lest she stay, she killed two chickens and had a meal for herself. We tried to find an owner, but "She's a stray that someone dumped," our neighbor said. At dinner I remarked that we had better call the dog catcher.

"What would he do?" the four-year-old wanted to know.

"He'd take the dog off our hands" said I, without explanation.

Another day the animal remained, pleading and grateful for kindness, but on my trip to town I passed the dog warden. I [illegible] my limitations and if there is one thing we have no need for now it is a female dog or a litter of pups.

Yesterday a car drove up and a middle-aged man got out. "Is there an extra dog here?" he asked the little boy who was playing in the yard.

"Yes—out back of the house—I'll show you." Chattering every step, the youngster led the way and the man spoke to the dog, which followed him without difficulty and was locked into the rear compartment of his car.

"That dog came here," the child piped. "You can take it if you want to. My Daddy was going to get a dog catcher to come and eat it."

"And eat it, eh?" said the man, vaguely astonished. "Where'd you get that idea."

His mother had overheard. Only after she remembered the "boy catcher" incident could we piece together the working of the childish mind. If a boy-catcher were a dragon that ate boys, what would a dog-catcher be? Almost every adult will remember some fanciful hypothesis of his own youth, and sympathize.

Once I saw a favorite uncle lift a little lamb and with a deft jerk of his pocket knife, cut off its tail. He wiped his knife upon the grass and looked into my round-eyed horror stricken face with a confidential wink that made me an accomplice. "Don't you tell anybody," he whispered. It was many years before I breathed it to a soul.

"—And the thoughts of youth [illegible] long, long thoughts."

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—It's a committee secret, but those sweeping National Labor Relations Act amendments recommended by the House investigators came within a hair's breadth of being ditched in the investigating committee itself.

Representative Charles A. Halleck of Indiana balked at approving them up to the last minute, finally gave in only after Chairman Howard Smith, Virginia anti-unionite who authored them, agreed to drop one designed to curb the freedom to strike.

This was one of two pet amendments vigorously advocated by Smith in the closed-door deliberations of the committee. The other would strip the NLRB of all enforcement powers, and transform it from a potent regulatory agency into a quasi-judicial body passing only on complaints submitted to it by an independent administrator, who would be the real boss of the labor law.

The two New Dealers on the committee, Representatives Abe Murdock of Utah and Arthur Healey of Mass., flatly refused to have anything to do with Smith's bill, so he had to have Halleck's vote to get anywhere. Otherwise the New Dealers would have had a 3-to-2 majority and there would have been no amendments.

The young Hoosier Republican bluntly told Smith he considered his bill "half-baked" and biased, and urged that nothing be done until later in the session after the committee had completed its probe. Smith insisted on immediate action, on the ground that an early adjournment might stymie the legislation.

Press-Minded.

I'D RATHER take the risk," shot back Halleck, "than rush in with amendments that are half-baked. These amendments you've drafted are too drastic. They'll have to be toned down and that will take time. I'm not anti-labor and I don't want the workers of my state to think I would interfere with their rights to bargain collectively."

"The committee met this morning to take action on this report," retorted Smith, "and I insist that it do so."

"I'll give you my answer tomorrow," replied Halleck, picking up his papers and walking toward the door.

"What do you mean. I can't do this?" snapped Halleck, wheeling angrily.

"I'm chairman of this committee," thundered Smith, "and I insist on staying in session until we finish with this report. Tomorrow will be too late."

"What's all the hurry? Why can't we wait?"

"Well," sputtered Smith, "because I promised the newspaper boys I'd give them the amendments this morning."

Everyone, including Halleck and Smith, broke into laughter at this profound explanation. It eased the tension, and in a calmer vein, with Smith agreeing to junk the anti-strike amendment, Halleck finally consented to go along with him and Representative Harry Routzohn of Ohio, the other GOP member, on the remainder of the bill.

Note:—Murdock and Healey were willing to favor an amendment separating the judicial and administrative powers of the NLRB, but when Smith refused to include a provision permitting an appeal to the board from decisions of the administrator, they turned thumbs down on any change.

Merry-Go-Round.

ALL THE Republican presidential candidates are privately wooing Joe Pew, multi-millionaire boss of Pennsylvania, who will control 100 votes at the convention, but publicly they are keeping him at arm's length because he is political poison with the labor vote. . . . For a red-hot New Dealer, scrappy Maury Maverick is chalking up a strange record as mayor of San Antonio. He has balanced the city's budget, reduced taxes and put an end to labor strife. . . . One state where Senator Vandenberg is making little headway with Republican leaders is Indiana. Reason is that in 1938 he angered them by making a speech criticizing them for running a candidate against Democratic Senator Fred Van Nuys, who was on the White House purge list. Van Nuys' GOP opponent came within an ace of winning the election. . . . Third-term note: Of the senate's 96 members, 26 have served three terms or more and two others, Connally of Texas and Townsend of Delaware, are running for their third term this year. Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina, who has indicated he will bolt if Roosevelt runs again, is serving his sixth term. In the house more than half the member, 244, have been in office three terms or more.

Double Victory.

THE WHITE HOUSE inner circle scored not one but two victories in the bitter behind-the-scenes battle over the selection of trustees for the billion-dollar Associated Gas & Electric system.

First triumph of the New Dealers was in blocking the appointment of former Treasury Under Secretary John Hanes and having named instead, against strong opposition from powerful Wall Street interests, three pro-Holding Company Act liberals, Willard Thorp, Dennis J. Driscoll and Walter M. Pollack.

The second triumph arises out of the first. By installing these three allies at the head of the giant utility, the New Dealers gave the SEC a tremendous weapon in its new campaign to enforce the so-called "death sentence" provision of the Holding Company Act, which requires utilities to simplify ("integrate") their financial structures along regional lines.

The SEC faces rough going anyway, but it would be a lot tougher if a hostile trustee was running the mighty AG&E, which under its original operators was a violent foe of federal regulation. Now, however, the SEC is assured that the utility will co-operate to act as a model for corporate simplification. This will be invaluable in bringing indirect pressure on other top-heavy utility empires to fall into line.

Note:—Driscoll's appointment must be bitter irony to the former AG&E rulers. He was the Pennsylvania congressman who uncovered the phony telegrams sent by AG&E demanding defeat of the Holding Company Act. In retaliation, AG&E went into his district at the next election, and through the expenditure of a lot of money, defeated him. But he was made chairman of the Pennsylvania public utility commission, which in turn made him a strong candidate for his new job as trustee.

FINDS HALF OF CITY HOMES IN GOOD CONDITION

Inventory Reveals 39 Per Cent in Need of Minor Repairs, Balance in Poor Shape.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third of a series of articles on the work and findings of the Real Property inventory, better known as the RPI, conducted by the WPA in Mansfield.

By HAROLD K. MANSFIELD
Director, Real Property Inventory

The real property inventory survey shows the condition of our homes for the period March 1, through June 1, 1939.

As building, remodeling and demolition are continually going on, the picture changes slightly. While this changing makes measurement difficult, the views we get for the period studied is accurate enough for all practical purposes.

In yesterday's article, the age of our homes was studied. How well have they stood the years? How do owner-occupied and tenant occupied homes compare in their conditions? What is the condition of the vacant units? How do we compare with other communities? These are some of the questions that will be answered by our figures today.

The enumerators who gathered the data on which the tabulation was based were taught how to judge the condition of each structure visited, and their reports came under four headings in the division, based on certain definite criteria. These headings were: good condition, minor repairs needed, major repairs needed, and unfit for use.

Over half or 50.7 per cent of our occupied residence structures were reported as being in good condition. The exact number is 5,052 out of a total of 9,970. There were 3,876 homes or 38.9 per cent in need of minor repairs; while 991 or 9.9 per cent were in need of major repairs. Out of all our occupied structures, only 51 or one half of one per cent were found to be unfit for use.

These percentages, by themselves, perhaps do not mean much to the average reader, but let us compare them with the average for the 203 urban centers in which real property inventories were taken during the years 1934-35 and 36. We must make some allowance as to change for the better in housing during the past three years in comparison to the three years prior to 1937.

Even so, our comparative rating would not be changed to any great extent. The average on this national scale was 37.9 per cent in good condition, 44.7 per cent in need of minor repairs, 15 per cent in need of major repairs and 2.4 per cent as unfit for human habitation.

Over half of our homes in Mansfield, 50.7 per cent, are in good condition in comparison to 37.9 per cent for the 203 urban areas. That is something of which to be justly proud. The condition of our homes is far above that of the average city.

Another interesting breakdown of our local figures is the comparison between owner-occupied and tenant-occupied structures. Of a total of 6241 owner-occupied structures, 3563 or 57.1 per cent, were in good condition; 2200 or 35.3 per cent in need of minor repairs; 450 or 7.2 per cent as unfit for use. There was a total of 3729 structures in which only tenants lived. Of this number, 1489 or 39.9 per cent were in good condition, 1676 or 45 per cent in need of minor repairs, 541 or 14.5 per cent in need of major repairs and 23 or three-fifths of one per cent as unfit for use.

In our survey, we found only 187 vacant houses; however, there were 341 vacant dwelling units. The 187 structures were mainly single family structures while the 154 remaining vacant dwelling units were halves of doubles and duplexes as well as one to five room apartments.

The condition of the vacant dwellings were tabulated according to units and not structures, so we have the following figures; 35.6 per cent in good condition, 37.4 per cent in need of minor repairs, 19.9 per cent in need of major repairs and 17.1 per cent unfit for use.

Again there is a favorable comparison with the vacant houses of the 203 urban centers: 25.1 per cent in good condition; 41.6 per cent in need of minor repairs; 23.7 per cent in need of major repairs and 9.6 per cent unfit for use.

The condition of a city's homes taken as a whole is a good reflection of that city's economic condition. We have shown that our city occupies an enviable position in the rating with other urban centers—a fact we should all be proud of and a truth we can all bear out by being more observant of the outward appearance of other cities' residential sections and comparing them with our own.

Tomorrow: How large are our homes?

SALES DOUBLED

New Car Business in February Up 100 Per Cent Over 1939.

Richland county automobile dealers sold 239 new cars last month, twice as many as in February, 1939, a report compiled by Norman P. Henry, deputy county clerk of courts, showed today.

Sales of new trucks last month totaled 19, a gain of six over the figure for February last year but four less than the total sales for January, 1940.

Despite the huge gain in auto sales for February, the total fell off 14 from the 253 sold in January of this year.

More than half, or 130, of the new cars sold in the county last month were of the three low priced makes.

U. S. ASKS JAP DATA ON ISLES NEAR SEA BASE

Treaty Makes Annual Report Mandatory; Arming Feared.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States is inquiring of Japan whether she intends to give this government information which is required by treaty on the administration of the Japanese mandate islands in the Pacific.

Instructions to this effect have gone to the American embassy in Tokyo. The islands, which Japan took from Germany in the World war, partly surround, to the south and west, the American islands of Guam and Wake.

The information sought relates to 1938. The last report received here from Japan covers 1937. Japan obligated herself to furnish the League of Nations an annual report of the administration of the islands. The report covering 1937 was presented last year after considerable delay.

Japan is no longer a member of the League of Nations and thus there is some question as to whether she is still obligated to send the league a report. If she does not, is she therefore not released from the obligation of sending the United States a "duplicate?"

Some officials here hold that Japan, through her treaty with the United States, is still obliged to furnish this government information, regardless of what she says to the league. Importance is attached to the report because of the location of the islands in relation to Guam and Wake.

Congress has again refused to appropriate money for harbor improvements at Guam, but the last report of Japan showed that important harbor improvements were being made in her mandated islands, and that air and sea communication to them was being developed through subsidies. She emphatically stated that no fortifications were being built there.

RIDING CLUB'S GYMKHANA SET

Annual Games and Contests to be Held at Raemelton March 29.

The annual gymkhana of Raemelton Riding club will be held at the riding hall at Raemelton farm Friday night, March 29, S. Glenn Vinson, president of the club announced today.

The gymkhana is held every year in the first few weeks of spring and provides a night of games and contests for the club riders.

It will be open to members of the club and their guests. On the committee on arrangements are Donald Black, Louis J. Ott, Hiram Caldwell and Harvey Bailey.

NORTH EASTON, Mass.—(INS)—Deep snows have caused untold suffering to game birds in this vicinity, according to conservation officer Robert F. Clifford, who asked residents to report to him any coveys of quail which need feeding. A large flock of quail became so hungry as a result of the snow which covered their feeding grounds that they marched into Whitman Square seeking food.

NEUTRALITY OF IRELAND SOURCE OF PRIDE, MIRTH

Citizens Smile Over Contrasts in North and South Parts of Island.

By J. C. STARK

DUBLIN — (AP) — Ireland's (Eire's) state of neutrality in the current war is a source of both pride and amusement to its citizens.

In the first place, it's unique for Southern Ireland to be neutral in a war involving Great Britain. For centuries the Irish have been fighting with or against the British.

Now this state that calls itself a free and independent nation maintains officialy it has no sympathy with either side in the present conflict. Despite deep-seated grievances that still exist here, however, most people concede that the majority of Ireland's public sympathizers with the British-French causes—or, as some put it, opposes dictatorships.

Eire's neutrality is one of paradoxes and oddities. The government of Prime Minister Eamon de Valera tries hard to show complete impartiality in the war, but physical factors keep throwing up obstacles.

The German minister, Edward Hempel, still functions in Dublin yet he is a lonely figure, if he attends any public functions, he is almost certain to encounter the British representative, Sir John Maffey, or some other British figure. He has difficulty communicating with his government, for cable communication between Eire and Germany goes through London.

Eire has a legation in Berlin, now headed by a charge d'affaires. The post of minister became vacant, by coincidence, just before the outbreak of the war. A new minister is said to have been chosen, but the appointment has never been announced.

Ireland has no mercantile marine or navy and thus is dependent upon Britain for its trade and sea protection.

The two countries fought a bitter trade war which was settled two years ago, but high-tariff duties still exist between them. Women of Ireland pay as much duty on a dress from London as on one from New York.

Island Division Striking.

The contrast between Eire and northern Ireland, the latter still a part of Britain and thus allied with her in the war, is striking. The night train from Belfast to Dublin, for instance, runs with dim blue lights and drawn blinds until it reaches the Eire border—then the lights go on and the blinds go up. Belfast is blacked out like London.

Dublin had a brief taste of the blackout at the beginning of the war—apparently at the behest of the British who feared the lights might serve as a guide for German aircraft seeking Britain. But the public grumbled and the lights came back on, though street lamps now are fitted with cowls to minimize the glare.

To travel direct from Britain to Eire requires a British exit permit. None is required to go from northern to southern Ireland, and when the Belfast blackout becomes too trying its residents take a run down to Dublin for a bright weekend. Customs inspection is maintained at the border, but it is not rigid.

People of Eire look across the border into northern Ireland, congratulate themselves on being outside the war, smile amusedly at their own type of neutrality, and wonder if it can last.

Most persons apparently think it can. They say Britain is well satisfied to have Eire neutral, so long as Eire co-operates in supplies and keeps in check those elements which would take advantage of the war to make difficulties for Britain over the Irish partition question.

Some persons suspect, however, that German funds find their way into the I. R. A., coffers to keep alive anti-British agitation over partition.

Gasoline is the only commodity rationed. That is because Eire is dependent upon British shipping or sources of supply. Eire has its own supplies of butter and meat, and now refines a major part of its own sugar.

Irish newspapers have censorship difficulties as great as or greater than those in Britain. The censorship is called voluntary, but the papers have to be careful what they print, inasmuch as many of them go into northern Ireland or Britain.

FIGHT FOR LOVE + + + + + + +

(Copyright, 1940)

CHAPTER XVIII

It was Star's chance but she could not take it.

"Nothing happened," she denied. "We didn't even speak."

"You saw my wife last night?" Wood persisted.

"Yes, but she left almost immediately."

"That's funny," he poundered as if he were thinking aloud. "If she were the jealous type, I could understand it, but even if she were there is nothing to be jealous of."

He needn't have said that, Star thought. He added quickly, "What I mean is you are young and lovely enough to make a jealous wife suspicious, but mine isn't and has no reason to be—of any one."

"I am sure of that," she answered.

What a strange conversation to be taking place in the middle of a busy morning. But how sweet and trusting he was. Loyal not only to his wife but also to his secretary. The fairest person, Star decided, that she had ever known.

"Perhaps I am just up against a woman's unreasoning instinct," he signed. "I'll have to confess I've never understood your sex very well. But I refuse to take sides in a feminine row even if one of those concerned happens to be my wife. I hired you, Star, because I liked and trusted you. That still goes. I think I am as indulgent as the average husband, but where this office is concerned, I must reserve the right to use my own judgment."

Star looked at him in pity and admiration.

"Do you mean you will let me stay after what Mrs. Wood has said?"

"Yes! And in the future," he warned with no hint of a smile on his grave face, "I trust you will give her no possible occasion for complaint."

Looking back on it, Star found herself amazed at his attitude. He could have refused to grant Jennifer's request without telling Star about it. The fact that he had given her a chance to defend herself was proof of his high regard. Or did he suspect that there must be more to this story than his wife was admitting? Obviously he had been puzzled. And how fiendishly clever of Jennifer to register her protest first so that if Star did retaliate he would have reason not to believe her.

Well, this would not be the end of it. Of that she was certain, but she would not give up just because Jennifer was now openly her enemy. She would show the lady that she could fight, too. But what a predicament! And as if to add to the tangled threads which fate seemed to be tightening about her, Mamie telephoned that she must see her at once. That meant more money, which would have to be drawn from the savings account Star had hoped not to touch.

Little wonder that she could not play up to Bruce Donovan and Clifford Payne at dinner that evening. She refused their invitation to a movie.

"I'm going to be busy," she said. They reproached her for her neglect and left with two other girls who Star suspected would soon replace her.

She found Mamie more cheerful and obviously relieved to find that Star would grant her request. More conversational than usual, she regaled her daughter with gossip about the apartment house. The couple in number ten had been fighting again. She had left him Saturday night but today she was back and there was a new tenant in number eleven across the hall.

"He's hardly ever here," Mamie confided. "And he doesn't even have his name on the door but Mrs. Brady says that's none of her business as long as he pays his rent."

Star said, "I can't see why you should want to live in such a place."

"What's the matter with it?" Mamie demanded. "I'm used to it and it seems like home. Besides Mrs. Brady is very considerate of me."

Star suspected that Mrs. Brady's consideration took the form of dropping in to have a drink with Mamie, but she said nothing. She could not object to any one who helped Mamie adjust herself to life without her husband. She listened patiently to Mamie's account of the gossip Mrs. Brady had told her without any of it registering. And when she rose to go her mother made no attempt to detain her. With the money she had requested safe in her pocketbook, Mamie had no further need of her.

Never had Star been more depressed than she was on the way home that night. The only bright spot in her life was her position as Milton Wood's secretary. So long as she continued to hold that she told herself she could bear anything. He was such a grand person. As tender-hearted and sympathetic in his personal relationships as he was cool and capable of driving a hard bargain in business.

He had spoken of his three years of marriage, so he must have married Jennifer when he was twenty-nine, Star decided. Just at the beginning of his success as business manager of the magazine.

How could he have loved any one so incapable of emotion? It was so obvious that Jennifer cared for nothing but flattery and excitement and beautiful clothes. But then Mliton Wood was definitely inexperienced where women were concerned. Shyer than any man Star had ever known.

He had told her that he worked his way through college. Probably had been too busy educating himself and planning a career to pay much attention to girls. Jennifer's beauty had swept him from his feet and she was exactly the kind of person, cold and calculating, who would deliberately choose him as a means of security.

Jennifer did not love him. That was apparent, but no doubt she would be too smart to give him up, and Star, who had previously worshipped him as a sort of superior being, found herself sorrier for him than she was for herself.

Although the sight of Bruce and Clifford leaving with two other companions in her place had given her a momentary pang, she did not even thing of them as she returned to the rooming house. As usual, with any of the men whose lives had touched hers, she was capable of putting them completely out of her mind. She had enjoyed the playtime their devotion had made possible but she knew that it was over. From now on she would have to give every extra penny to Mamie. There would be nothing left for pretty clothes or any of the things a girl's heart desires. It would be necessary for her to concentrate on her job. Not only to make good so that she would get the promised raise in six months but also to do everything she could for Milton Wood. Jennifer might be hard and calculating, making him pay for her caresses, but as his secretary Star would give him a devotion money could not buy.

There was no trace of selfishness in her plans. Already old beyond her years, the added burden of her mother's support forced her to face life without illusions. Marriage was out of the question for years, perhaps always, but so long as she could see Milton Wood every day, work with him and contribute to his comfort, share his thoughts and ideas, she would be content.

She was preparing for bed when the meaning back of her satisfaction in such a future came to her in a blinding flash.

"I am in love with him," she admitted frightened. "That's why I don't mind giving up the idea of marrying any one else. I'm in love with the husband of another woman. But she doesn't care for him. She couldn't, and treat him as she does."

Recalling the way Jennifer had looked at her companion as they danced, Star felt her own feeling for Milton Wood to be as different as night from day. Her love asked for nothing except to be allowed to serve. She had no hope that it would ever be returned and there had been nothing in her employer's attitude to indicate that he suspected it. He had spoken of his fidelity to his wife as if it should be taken for granted.

Star was not so stupid as not to realize that she was letting herself in for a great deal of grief. But she told herself she could take it. If she expected no return she could not be disappointed.

TOWNSHIP HEADS TO ELECT FRIDAY

County Association Holds Session Postponed From Last Month.

The Richland County Association of Township Trustees and Clerks will elect officers at a meeting at 8 p. m. Friday at the courthouse.

The election was postponed from last month because inclement weather held down attendance at the scheduled annual election session.

John Selby, president of the association, said candidates for county and district offices would be invited to speak briefly at the meeting Friday night.

Relieved of Pains In Arms That Kept Him Awake Nights

Praises Vendol For Relief of Constipation and Fine Diuretic Action on Kidneys. Advises Everyone to Give It a Trial.

MR. CHESTER H. MORGAN

"I often had such severe pains in my arms, back and limbs that I would awaken during the night and have to rub them so I could get back to sleep again," says Mr. Chester H. Morgan, well known farmer living on Route One, Mansfield.

"My kidneys were sluggish and I was constipated every day and I'm sure this was causing all my trouble because I had to take some kind of medicine every night or I would be bound up next day.

"This was my condition when I was advised to give Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets a trial by a friend who said this medicine had done him a world of good.

"It did not fail me either but gave me the grandest relief from constipation I've ever found and seemed to act on my kidneys too, now I enjoy a full night's rest without any disturbance, get up next morning with my old pep and ambition ready for a good meal. I never have any aches or pains in my arms, legs or back any more and this is a grand feeling. My advice to anyone suffering like I did is to give Vendol a chance to help them."

When you feel "all in," lost your pep, awaken with a headache, stomach is sour, full of gas after meals, skin looks muddy and you have pimples, because you are constipated, don't delay taking Vendol. It gives a marvelous cleaning out and you'll again have that grand and glorious feeling with a "rosy" complexion and a spring in your step. So, get Vendol today.

See the Vendol Man at Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and Fourth Streets, and he will explain all about this reliable family medicine. Vendol is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

PARIS BECOMES CRIMELESS CITY DURING CONFLICT

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is the third dispatch in a series surveying conditions in Europe on the eve of a possible critical turn in events.

By RELPH HEINZEN
(United Press Staff Writer)

PARIS—(U.P.)—One day last week a band from the British Royal Air force marched down the broad Champs Elysees blaring a military tune.

A great crowd rushed out to cheer. It was almost the first military band Paris had heard in the streets since the war started and the popular response illustrated the drabness of war-time for the common people.

There still is a whirl of gay night life in Paris if you look—and pay—for it, but for the mass of people this war is swiftly becoming a tremendous effort to put all phases of everyday life on an emergency basis. The French see no chance of an early peace, they are doggedly determined to get rid of Adolf Hitler as a neighbor and they expect intense fighting—although not necessarily a big offensive—on the Western front this spring.

For the average Frenchman the war is belatedly becoming a matter of occasional air alarms, of bread cards and of francs and centimes. And this, they believe, is only the beginning.

Henceforth, three meatless days a week will be observed. Frenchmen will hand over 15 per cent of their earnings as a war tax in addition to regular direct and indirect taxes. Tens of thousands of women are in factories and other jobs to replace men at the front. Food and gasoline is rationed to a limited extent. The luxury trades are suffering big losses. Unemployment has been eliminated.

But—as demonstrated by the excitement aroused by a royal air force band—there is no music and no holiday atmosphere in this war. Nor is there any of the bitterness against the 'boches" of the World war.

There was an attempt recently to "put over" a French war song, such as "Mademoiselle from Armentires" or "Tipperary" in the last war. Maurice Chevalier tried to get the people interested in "A Daughter of Mademoiselle of Armentiers." But not even the famous music hall star could make it click.

But there is another side to war-time France and it is the side seen by most of the people. The women of France are working in almost every industry in order to fill the places left vacant by men who are in the army. They are doing all of the light work and in the big industrial plants some women operate small lathes and automatic machines.

Becomes Crimeless City.

Paris has become what is known as a "crimeless city" since all criminals have been rounded up by the government.

All courts were transformed into war-time tribunals where the judges rarely show leniency. As a result, police say, crime has dropped off about 80 per cent.

One of the amusing features of the French food rationing system is the rule providing for "liquor-less days," of which there are three weekly. On those days, hard liquor cannot be purchased but it can be taken from the Frenchman's private stock. Furthermore, on those three days the French must get along on only champagne, wine and beer, which are not rationed.

For the most part, the French people merely are making a patriotic gesture in going on food rations. They will line up in the future to buy rationed goods with food cards and they may not be able to get various imported products because France is saving foreign exchange to buy war necessities. French tables will bear simplified meals under a decree that prohibits more than five courses.

But the country has huge food reserves and is continually increasing them and the French culinary ingenuity can still make the most of the loopholes in the restrictions on food. The French can still dine royally compared to the Germans.

When the war started, all of Paris was prepared for the worst possible in the form of aerial attack. But now the city is almost normal in this respect and gas masks are seldom seen on the street.

More than half of the normal 5,000,000 persons in the Paris area evacuated hurriedly at the start of the war but most of them are back now, except for some school children.

After Canadian Bomber Crashed In U. S.

Customs Official William Goebel stands guard over the wreckage of a British bombing plane which crashed on the American side of the U. S.-Canadian border near Alexandria Bay, N. Y. Two Royal Canadian Air Force pilots were injured. They were placed in custody of federal agents pending a decision on their status by the U. S. State Department which later decided to release them.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Gas blouts up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 10¢ and 25¢. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Emergency release frees shoe from roll. Table top swings out to form a handy work surface. The hand iron action lets you iron hurried and unworried . . . put high sheen on linens automatically. The unobstructed roll gives you full use of both ends of roll—iron everything with fewer motions. No stoop, no crane, no strain! The first ironer with a shoe placed far enough forward so you don't need to lean over to see what you're doing.

The Westinghouse WASHER

Regularly Priced at $89.95

Special During This Sale $69.95

Sturdy . . . massive . . . streamlined . . . the model FB-83 Westinghouse Washer is handsome enough to keep in the kitchen — rugged enough to stand the strain of countless washings. The tub holds 8 lbs. of washables (dry weight) per load and is finished inside and out with triple-coat white porcelain enamel. The smooth, sleek tub lines are not interrupted by outside corrugations, although these are retained inside for their use in "natural" washing action. Wringing is easier, too. Selected pressure wrings everything dryer, safer. In an emergency the Touch-bar instantly releases the wringer pressure and stops the rolls in a split second.
